100 HOSPITAL PATIENTS FLEE READING FIRE

Ill Children Evacuated, Aid Called

150 Summer Cottages Imperilled

One hundred patients of the North Reading State Tuberculosis Sanitarium, mostly children, were ordered evacuated shortly after noon today when a forest fire, fanned by a 20-mile wind, threatened to engulf the institution. State Police cruisers were ordered to the scene by radio, and fire equipment from Boston was sent to help battle the flames.

The fire flared up at the Wilmington waterworks, swept through a wooded area, leaped Route 62 in a southeasterly direction to the hospital. It was also thrusting forward a half-mile to the Andover turnpike.

Six cottages in its path seemed already doomed. A shift in the wind would menace 150 others.

In addition to personnel and equipment from Boston, help was also being rushed from Malden, Chelsea, Somerville, Winchester, Stoneham, Woburn, Everett, Reading and Andover.

More Stars to Tell Of Filmland Reds

By DAVID SENTNER
Boston Evening American Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23—Playing their greatest role, four famous film stars—Gary Cooper, Robert Montgomery, Ronald Reagan and George Murphy—today will take the witness stand to expose Communist infiltration of Hollywood before a congressional committee.

The four anti-Red actors will testify before the House Committee on Un-American activities in defiance of the smear campaign being readied by the well-organized Leftist propaganda network.

Judging by the surging crowds who stormed the hearing yesterday when Robert Taylor appeared as an anti-Communist witness, today's four-star cast is due to cause committee chairman J. Parnell Thomas plenty of worry.

In an effort to control the situation, Thomas has ordered special barricades in the old House office building where the committee sessions are held.

Reagan is the current president of the Screen Actors' Guild.

Montgomery and Murphy are previous presidents.

The testimoiny of all three will picture the bitter fight that was waged to rid the Guild of Communist domination.

MORE NAMES

More names of well-known actors and actresses who followed the Communist "party line" will be put into the record.

Cooper's testimony will be equally specific but more homespun than the others, according to committee investigators.

He will deal mainly with the efforts of the Communist writers and directors to insert party-line messages into motion picture scripts.

Gary will tell of one of his recent pictures in which he detected blatant Communist propaganda in the script during the "shooting" period.

Cooper demanded that the scenes and lines be eliminated or otherwise he would quit the picture.

The changes were reluctantly made.

He will name the director and script writer of the film.

Both have been previously cited before the committee as members of the Communist-minded Hollywood bloc.

Other anti-red witnesses from Hollywood to be heard today will

Old Colony Riders Press Fare Rise Fight

Old Colony commuters in cities and towns along the system pressed an organized attack against the proposed 40 per cent fare increase today at a hearing conducted by the State Public Utilities Commission, with Thomas H. Buckley of Abington, chairman of the State Commission on Administration and Finance, spearheading the campaign.

As the objectors waited for the floor, they heard an endorsement of the fare boost from William H. Day, head of the chamber of commerce transportation division.

"Many Chamber of Commerce members feel it should be given a trial," Day told the hearing. "The situation is very serious. It all boils dow nto this: do the users of the Old Colony want passenger service so badly they are willing to pay a premium for it?

"The increase would mean only 12 cents per patron per ride. The railroad had a deficit of $3,600,000 in 1946, and the estimated deficit for 1947 is $3,387,000."

Day said there was "considerable doubt" whether the 40 per cent increase would solve the road's financial plight.

Industry Men Warned of Big Government

For the past 15 years, "America has put her eggs in the lopsided basket of bigger and bigger government, higher and higher taxes, more and more controls, and less freedom," former Sen. Arthur Walsh of New Jersey said today.

Warning that "big government is not good government," Walsh, executive vice-president of Thomas T. Edison, Inc., told 2000 industrial executives at a meeting of the Associated Industries of Massachusetts in Hotel Statler:

"It is an amazing fact that one out of every nine persons employed gets most of his money from the American taxpayer—federal, state and local. The American people still have on their federal payroll nearly two and a half times as many civilian employes as they did before the war.

Truman Confers on Europe With Aides

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (AP)—President Truman summoned his cabinet into session this morning, presumably to lay the groundwork for his afternoon conference with congressional leaders on means of providing quick help for dollar-short nations of western Europe.

Agriculture Se. Anderson, first cabinet member to arrive at the White House, told reporters he did not know why the Cabinet had been summoned a day ahead of its usual Friday meeting.

The Cabinet session began a busy day for Mr. Truman, since his meeting with Congress leaders was set for 2:30 p. m. with a news conference to follow at 3:30 p. m. His talk with reporteds was scheduled a half-hour ahead of the time such conferences take place when they are held in the afternoon.

The ceremonies will honor all Saline County natives over 80—and there are 125 of them.

Autopsy Ordered In Woman's Death

An autopsy was ordered today to solve the mystery of the death of Mrs. Anna T. McNicolas, 34, mother of four young children, found dead in the dining room of her home at 48 Standish st., Cambridge. Both of her eyes were blackened.

Michael McNicholas, her husband, found her lying on the kitchen floor when he arrived home from work and called police when he believed she had simply fainted.

The victim was taken to Cambridge City Hospital by police but pronounced dead on arrival.

Medical Examiner Dr. David C. Dow ordered an autopsy to disclose the cause of death.

Her four children were asleep in adjoining rooms. The children are Margaret, 10; Kathleen, 7; Patricia, 4, and John, 2.

She is survived also by her father, John Murphy, a sister, Miss Agnes Murphy, both of this city; and two brothers, Timothy, of Charlestown, and John, of Roslindale.

Winds Fan Fires in Six N. E. States

Plagued again by brisk winds, fire-swept New England battled desperately today against a red tide surging in all six states, through forests and woodlands, over farmlands and even to town and city outskirts.

At least two persons are dead and several are missing. More than 400 cottages and farm homes have been destroyed in Maine alone.

The damage now has mounted to the $4,000,000 mark with new blazes breaking out just when weary fire fighters—now in their fourth sleepless day—brought old ones under control.

The weather bureau raised no hopes. More warm, dry and unseasonable weather is due until at least week's end, without the slightest sign of rain. Even the wind was conspiring against the fire battlers. It blew from the southwest at a steady 25-mile velocity.

Rain moving eastward from the Great Lakes region is not expected to reach New England. Cooler air from the Hudson bay section, usually presaging rain, is moistureless.

New and old danger areas in Maine were at Kennebunkport, Biddeford, Waterboro, Bar Harbor and Fryeburg.

MASSACHUSETTS FIRES

Massachusetts fire fighters were busy at Gloucester, Annisquam, Fitchburg, Ashby, Mt. Tom in Holyoke, Quincy and Medford.

New Hampshire's worst fires were at East Madison and Wakefield, while Vermont fought flames in a number of places, with Greenboro the hardest hit.

The most destructive Maine blaze, at Goose Rocks, was reported pretty much under control but chiefly because the whole community already is wiped out. More than 200 cottages and homes still smouldered, heaps of gray ash from which blackened chimneys rose.

A few miles to the south, the Cape Porpoise and Kennebunkport blazes were under control although it was accomplished only by the combined work of every able-bodied man and many women and children, too. At least 600 were homeless. All were speedily cared for by more fortunate neighbors.

Martial law has not been proclaimed in Maine but State Guardsmen had orders to keep all strangers out of burned areas. The order came after reports of looting and arson.

BAR HARBOR HIT

A famed and wealthy Bar Harbor, four fires were briskly blazing again today, although firemen, volunteers and 1000 soldiers from Dow Field were keeping the flames away from the showplace homes of wealthy vacationists. Fires were blazing at Seal Harbor, site of the Rockefeller and Ford mansions; in the Town Hill section of Bar Harbor, and at Somesville.

The well known resort hotel, the Jordan Pond House, at Seal Harbor, was saved after firemen had battled flames right to its very porches.

In Fryeburg, nine firemen barely escaped with their lives after they had saved four homes from burning. Almost surrounded by flames, eight of the men carried a ninth, unconscious, for a half mile to safety. Fryeburg schools were closed and only a stiff battle saved the town.

At North Waterboro, desperate firefighters were making a stand at the edge of the village in a last-

Fires Sweep Hub, Worcester Plants

Two factory building in Charlestown were destroyed, one fireman was injured and damage of more than $75,000 was caused by a four-alarm fire early today. At the same time in Worcester, firemen battled a three-alarm blaze that swept the Stone & Berg Lumber Co. yard in Stafford st., on the outskirts of the city, causing damage estimated the $250,000 and for a time threatening an oil farm, several factories and eight dwellings.

The Charlestown blaze was discovered by Patrolman Vincent Mario, who saw flames in the two-story wooden building housing the Paul Chemical Co., and the J. H. Berry box factory in Arlington ave., and turned in an alarm.

When firemen arrived the interior of the building was a flaming inferno and soon the fire had jumped to the adjoining building occupied by the Charlestown Storage Co., and the Service Saw Co.

All 30 occupants of six nearby dwellings were evacuated by police as flying embers threatened the buildings. The tenants were taken into the homes of neighbors until the fire had been brought under control.

Lt. Walter Sullivan, aide to Chief Napeen Boutilier, suffered a lacerated foot when he stepped through glass from broken windows of the factory. He was taken to City Hospital and released after treatment.

Firemen for a time were hindered in fighting the blaze by dense black smoke that poured from the burning buildings.

The fire was finally brought under control after a battle of nearly two hours.

Fire officials and the State Fire Marshal's office began an investigation after Chief Boutilier had declared it to be of suspicious origin.

In Worcester, the entire business section of South Worcester was menaced by the lumber fire, and firemen were given a stiff battle to prevent the flames from reaching three large 10,000-gallon underground fuel tanks.

Also threatened by the blaze was a 30,000-volt transformer which provides electric power to that section and nearby Auburn. Origin of the fire was not immediately determined.

$700,000 Portland Fire Pier

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 23—A spectacular three-alarm blaze in which four firemen were injured swept the Maine state pier here today causing damage estimated officially at $700,000 before the flames were brought under control.

John D. Toft, member of the Portland Port Authority which operates the pier, estimated the loss as the fire damaged a new addition to the 100-foot pier and destroyed 600 tons of flour, pulp paper and other cargo awaiting shipment to West Coast ports.

The injured firefighters were Capt. Elmer Freeman who was knocked from a pile of railroad ties by the stream from a fireboat hose; Donald Mackenzie, 28, Stanley D. Royles, 49, and Alfred McCluskey, who was hit by bales of burning paper. Capt. Freeman and McCluskey were hospitalized. Mackenzie and Royles were treated for burns at the scene.

STOPPED BY FIREWALL

A brick firewall was credited with slowing progress of the fire which for a time threatened to spread along the entire waterfront. Sparks landed on the adjacent Grand Trunk pier, but employes there succeeded in extinguishing them before they caused any damage.

Chief Oliver T. Sanborn, who had spent the last 36 hours battling the Kennebunkport forest blaze, directed the firefighters.

Only one boat was tied up at the pier—the Coast Guard cutter Acushnet, which, joined with three other Coast Guard boats in fighting the blaze after being moved to safety. The cutter reported minor damage to her topside from the fire.

A third of the 1000-foot pier—including that section containing most of the cargo waiting shipment—was heavily damaged.

A cargo of expensive book paper valued at $300,000 was believed destroyed along with several cars of paper towels and at least one carload of sardines.

Damage to the pier itself was estimated unofficially at $250,000.

SHORT OF APPARATUS

With much of the Portland fire equipment away from the city aiding in fighting forest blazes, firemen were handicapped and help was called from adjoining communities.

The blaze started in a new section known locally as the New York boat shed where the Portland-to-New York steamships formerly docked.

A grain ramp was not damaged.

GARMISCH PARTENKIRCHEN, Germany—The Army does one thing especially well. It provides excellent recreation and fun centers for its occupation troops.

There are modified Howard Johnson style snack bars on all main turnpikes (autobahnen), ornamented salons where soldiers may dally over a double malted, ham and Swiss or a wide choice of food folderols at trivial price and attended by pink-frocked frauleins.

There are usually neat rathskellers with hand-painted murals in the barrack basements where the men may listen to a German swing band and gulp their schnapps (two one-ounce jolts to the customer), Pilsener, Muenchener or Salzburger beer (15 per cent by volume). There are P-X's in every post, mostly midget department stores where a soldier or wife can buy anything from sterling tea sets to black lace lingerie, at about one-third U. S. values. There are cozy service clubs with well stocked libraries of late U. S. periodicals, game rooms and juke boxes. There are post teams under capable coaches with ample sport equipment.

The idea, which doesn't always work, is to give the boys wholesome amusement in place of the many native mischiefs. It depends on the taste of the individual.

Then there are the movie theaters requisitioned from the Germans in larger towns where a soldier may bring his favorite fraulein or two. The theater scents, unhappily, vary from cloying perfume to a musty barn odor, which forces the more queasy Americans to stay away in droves. The soap scarcity in Germany is never so noticeable as when frauleins of the camp-following type collect indoors—teen-age kids with waterfall hairdos and early adults with kilted skirts and muscular legs.

MOVIE HOUSE AROMA!

Lately in Augsburg a committee of soldiers' wives waited on the local chapter of Military Government and asked, please, to limit the German lady guests to certain nights of the week. The wives wished to attend at other times. But the MG said no—this is a demonstration of U. S. style democracy, and the escorted frauleins might go any time.

"A little soap and water might help democracy to stick a little tighter," snapped one disgruntled wife.

Tonight in the quaint village of Mittenwald, famed for its violin makers, the Constab. troop of this border outpost held a dance in their ramshackle hotel billet. Their female partners came eagerly in droves, dancing with a gusto that betrayed their fun-hunger.

The five-piece local band was paid one pack of cigarets per man.

"Strange thing," said the top sergeant. "Here we are enemies occupying their country and these girls fall all over us. It doesn't seem natural."

The answer, while simple, is manifold. I asked one of the more worldly GI's how these girls' parents—mostly farm folk in this rural Bavarian area—felt about their daughters' freemasonry with the GI's, and as a sound pragmatist, he said:

"Oh their old man likes to smoke American cigarets, too."

Odd what a powerful medium, both as currency and a common social leveler, the U. S. cigaret has become.

Also, these girls would cut off their toes to marry an American boy, and use him as passport to the promised land. If nothing better, the boys are sources of P-X food and clothing. Also German manpower is at low tide. And yet this is a section of Germany little touched by war, with ample home-grown food stocks.

Hub Readies Fitting Tribute For First Bodies of War Dead

Plans for solemn and impressive exercises to highlight the reception Sunday of the first of Greater Boston's war dead from the Pacific theater of operations by community officials and veterans' organizations were nearing completion today.

Word that the flag-draped caskets would leave Schenectady, N. Y., Saturday night and arrive at South Station at 12:05 Sunday noon was given out by Col. Robert D. Blankenhorn, chief of the American graves registration section of the Army's general distribution depot, through City Registrar of Graves Frank T. Pedonti.

Each of the 17 Greater Boston bodies, two of them civilians, will be accompanied by a specially trained military escort, selected from the same branch of service in which the heroes served, with equal or higher rank.

The same train carrying the first of Greater Boston's war dead will stop off at Worcester to leave seven bodies, and again at Framingham to leave two more.

Kisses Climax 50 B. and A. Years

It's a rare thing in railroading when the girl commuters rally around the conductor to kiss him, but that's the way it was when the 8:25 from Worcester and way stations chugged into the South Station this morning.

The flustered ticket-puncher was James M. Galliher of Minthorne st., Worcester, 70, retiring today after half a century with the Boston & Albany. There were 700 passengers on the train and some of them were misty-eyed in their farewell to Galliher.

On the way in they passed the hat for him. When the train arrived they didn't rush for their offices as usual but surrounded him to shake his hand and wish him well. It wasn't only the chicks who gave him lipstick adieus; Galliher was thoroughly bussed by a number of elderly women who said they never dreamed they would ever kiss a man in the South Station.

He will make his last run when he takes out the 5:10 tonight. A native of Hinsdale, he went to work for the B. & A. April 1, 1898, as a freight brakeman, was advanced to freight conductor in 1905 and passenger conductor in 1920.

Cop, Bandit Shot In Vermont After Series of Holdups

BRATTLEBORO, Vt., Oct. 23 (AP)—Three young bandits on a wild night of crime through central New England shot it out with police here early today—sending one patrolman and two other persons to a hospital beforeone of the robbers was captured.

Caught hiding in a woodlands after evading a police block on the outskirts of this town was a 22-year-old Hartford, Ct., youth who was suffering from a bullet wound in the hip. He was identified by police as Norman Saucier.

Patrolman Roy Newton, who surprised the trio robbing a diner, was wounded in the arm and leg before he emptied his gun at the fleeing robbers—two of whom got away in a stolen car.

TWO BEATEN IN DINER

Two customers in the diner were beaten up during the battle and were taken to a hospital.

Police said the trail of crime began with the stealing of a large sedan in Hartford.

Investigators traced the robbers' path through Northampton, Mass., where a diner was held up, and through Greenfield, Mass., where a garage was broken into and a safe containing $200 stolen.

A short time after the Greenfield break Newton walked into the diner here to be greeted by gunfire.

Twice wounded, he managed to fire back at the trio, who were just about ready to leave after beating up two customers. They got $65 from a cash register and $90 from one of the customers. A trail of blood indicated at least one of the bandits was wounded.

As the three holdup men fled, two raced to a parked car and sped away. The third ran several blocks before stealing another car.

DOG LEADS IN CAPTURE

Road blocks were set up. The bandit traveling along ran into one just south of Brattleboro in Gilbert, but stopped it in time to veer off the road and flee into the woods.

Bloodstains were found on the seat of the car.

While bloodhounds were being brought to join in the search, a posse scoured the woods. William Green, who trained the bloodhound "Queenie" that found a baby boy lost in the woods two weeks ago, spotted Saucier crouching in the underbrush.

Guilty in Car Attack, Gets 7 to 10 Years

A Suffolk Superior Court jury, in a sealed verdict, today found Milton Flione, 32, Belknap ter., Watertown, guilty of criminal attack on Miss Evelyn McKeen, 29, brunette waitress of Commonwealth ave., Brighton.

Flione, alias Miltiades J. Flione, a beer salesman, was immediately sentenced by Chief Justice John P. Higgins to 7 to 10 years in State Prison.

Said the chief justice:

"I'm no troubled as to where he is going. It wil lact as a deterrent to others from trying the same thing.

"Decent women should be afforded the opportunity of walking about in our city without being accosted and forced to submit to improper relations."

In his own defense, Flione took the stand as the final witness and denied an attack. He said he only had volunteered to drive the waitress home and had been punched and hit over the head with a shoe for his trouble.

Miss McKeen had testified she had mistaken Flione's car for a taxi, but accepted his invitation to take her home because there was another girl, Miss Graham, sitting with him. After leaving Miss Graham at her home, the waitress said, Flione attacked her. She said she protested, but submitted to the attack because she didn't want to be "another Ruth McGurk."

Girl, Man Stabbed In Marriage Row

Police charged today that an altercation between two rival suitors for the hand of a Cambridge girl ended when one of the men pulled out a dirk and stabbed the girl and his rival repeatedly about the body.

WANDA MICKIEWICZ

Victims of the slashing were Wanda Mickiewicz, 26, Seventh st., Cambridge, and Elbro A. Murray, 33, Follen st., Back Bay. Both were taken to Massachusetts General Hospital, where Murray was held.

According to police, the Cambridge girl and Geraldine Sawicki, 27, Heath st., Somerville, were in a Green st., West End, cafe when they were joined by Frank Macri, 40, Temple st., West End, and Murray.

When the cafe closed, police said, the quartet adjourned to Macri's apartment, where the party was continued until Wanda suddenly decided she wanted to get married.

Whereupon Macri offered to marry her and said he had $500 to cover the cost of a wedding and honeymoon. At this point, police were told, Murray told Wanda he would make a more desirable husband and had more money than Macri.

The two men then became involved in a fight, and Macri pulled out a dirk, according to police, first attacking the girl and then Murray, inflicting deep slashes on both. After the stabbing, Macri ran from the house to the Joy st. police station and said a man had tried to kill him. He was held while police investigated the affray.

Meanwhile, Murray had followed Macri out of the house, but collapsed at Cambridge st. and Ridgeway lane. Wanda and the Martin woman ran to Scollay sq., where they hailed a car and were driven to the hospital.

In the police line-up this morning, Macri, booked on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon, appeared in a blood-soaked shirt and denied the stabbings.

"We were in a booth," he said, "and we had about 10 drinks. A man I never saw before came in and sat down with us. I invited them all to my home.

"He started a fight with me with a knife. I had no knife, never had a knife. He knocked me down and tried to cut me. My shirt was all bloody. I ran to the station and told police."

Macri said he is employed as a shoemaker in a downtown department store.

Actresses Battle in Night Club

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 23 (INS) — Hollywood's 1947 fall nightclub battle season was in full swing today with such mementoes as a black eye, aching jaws and threats of law suits lying around after the opener.

The locale was Charley Foy's supper club across the Hollywood hills in the San Fernando valley.

The battlers—Grace Hayes, well known screen actress and Charley's former wife, and Barbara Bonnet, Hollywood model.

Charles Foy

It was Foy who supplied part of the blow-by-blow account of the knock-down-and-drag-out battle.

"Grace and about five others came in last night for the 10 o'clock show," Charley said. "She comes in often even though we've been divorced since 1934.

"I asked her to sing and she did. She sang 'There's No Business Like Show Business' and then sat down. They had a lot of champagne."

Then, Charley said, in came Barbara with Lew Brice, brother of Fanny "Baby Snooks" Brice.

"Grace thinks he's playing 'straight man' for me and Barbara," Charley went on, "even though it's only that I have the highest regard for Barbara and anyway, I've been divorced from Grace for 13 years."

ACTRESS GRACE HAYES
Battles in Ex-Hubby's Club

Foy said he was in the kitchen just after the midnight show and he said:

"Next I knew in came Grace and she had a champagne bottle in each hand. I caught the first bottle on the fly and then she closed in."

Neither Brice nor Barbara could be found for a statement.

Bob Hope Heads Group For Royal Film Show

LONDON, Oct. 23 (AP)—Five American motion picture stars headed by Comedian Bob Hope have been invited to attend the second annual royal command film performance Nov. 25. Others invited are Robert Montgomery, Alexis Smith, Craig Stephens and Gene Kelly.

They are expected to arrive at Southampton Nov. 17 on the Queen Mary for the performance before the King and Queen. "The Bishop's Wife," starring Cary Grant, Loretta Young and David Niven, will be presented.

Warren Calls Draft Sacred Duty

By DAN MARKEL
Boston Evening American Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23—Until universal military training is enacted, America will not have kept faith with her war dead, Gov. Earl Warren of California told representatives of 60 national organizations here today.

Gov. Warren delivered the major address at the national security conference called by former Supreme Court Justice Owen J. Roberts. The conference demands that universal military training be passed at once.

"Last week I stood on the shore of San Francisco bay among a vast assemblage of sober-minded Americans," the Governor recalled.

"Silently we watched a ship glide through the Golden Gate with the last remains of 5000 World War II boys—the first to be returned for burial to their homeland.

"Throughout the ceremonies, I reflected solemnly on the fact that it was we who sent those boys overseas to stand between us and the aggressors. They did it—but at what a price.

"They died believing their sacrifice was doing what we told them it would do—permanently end aggression and prevent future wars. We had promised them, if you will remember, that we would fashion a new world.

FAIL IN PROMISE

"More than two years have passed since the shooting war ended. But have we kept our promise?

"Are we keeping our nation strong and able to fulfill its commitments?"

Gov. Warren said the answer is no.

"A program of universal military training is fundamental to the accomplishment of this goal," he said.

"It is far better that all of our male population give a short period of their lives to the prevention of war than for some of them to give their full life in a total war."

The California governor told the conference that pressure of state administrative duties at first impelled him to decline Justice Roberts' invitation to lead the newest crusade for enactment of universal training.

OBEYED CONSCIENCE

"But my conscience got the better of me," he continued.

"I owe it to my children to see that the world into which they have been brought will be more stable than my generation has yet made it.

"I owe it to the people of my state who live on the rim of the Pacific basin, exposed along a thousand miles of coast line, to advocate, for their protection, adequate defense measures."

World peace is impossible, the governor contended, unless America has a military establishment consistent with its world commitments.

"America has accepted a position of world leadership," he said. "Only a strong America can retain it.

"There is only one way that we can have large numbers of men prepared for defense, and that is to prepare everyone on a democratic basis.

"Universal military training is the democratic process.

TERRIBLE FIX!

CHEEKTOWAGA, N. Y., Oct. 23 (AP)—Town Board members are convinced Walter Pietrzak wants "a lot of fixing."

"I want my street fixed," Pietrzak wrote. "It is a lousy street. I want a sign on it, too. That street is really bad. Fix it because it needs fixing. You must fix it. Fix it. Please fix it. It needs it very bad."

Youth Mrs. Loew Aided Freed Again

David C. Amaral, Carver st., South End night club entertainer, who was saved from jail last August by Mrs. Sonya Loew, wife of E. M. Loew, movie magnate, after he stole a fur coat from her car, was found not guilty in Superior Court today of peddling marihuana cigarets.

On hand to congratulate him was the Rev. Samuel Tyler, assistant rector of Trinity Church, who had prevailed on Amaral to surrender in the Loew case after the entertainer had gone ti him for advice.

Amaral was freed today after Judge Frank E. Smith opened a sealed verdict returned by the jury.

Two men arrested with him, also charged with selling marihuana, pleaded guilty Tuesday and were sentenced to a year each by Judge Allan G. Buttrick. They were Nicholas Assad, 20, Waltham st., South End, and Frank Falzione, 24, Revere st., Revere.

Hearings on the Community Tax Law bill have been continued until Wednesday after a State House meeting at which proponents appeared in overwhelming numbers, declaring that Massachusetts tax payers would have saved $50,000,00 if the measure had been in affect last year.

Co-sponsors of the legislation, Reps. Peter J. Jordan of Revere and David J. Cleary of Charlestown, announced that Pennsylvania and Michigan have borrowed the Bay State bill and rushed it into law in those states. It was estimated the two states had saved their tax payers $200,000,000 by such action.

Recorded in favor were Albert G. Clifton, legislative counsel for the Massachusetts CIO, and John J. Del Monte, president of the Boston Central Labor Union.

John R. McIsaac, legislative agent of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, recorded his organization as in favor of passage of the measure, stating it included 45,000 men in Massachusetts, most of whose wages exceeded $3000 a year.

BORROWED MASS. BILL

"It was a tragic mistake not to have enacted this legislation last spring when Mr. Cleary and I introduced it," Rep. Jordan told the committee. "The great states of Michigan and Pennsylvania borrowed the bill which Mr. Cleary and I presented right here in this State House.

Rep. Jordan said:

"I suspect that much of the opposition to Community Property comes from those who still cling to the belief that a wife is more or less her husband's property. I condemn such a Dark Age philosophy. If a woman can make a home for a man and bear and raise his children, she is entitled to share his wordly possessions in the manner that the Community Property plan provides."

CITES OTHER STATES

Rep. Cleary warned the committee not to be concerned with statements to be made by the opposition that the federal government will eventually pass a Community Property law.

"The opponents of the bill," he said, "will argue that the Community Property law will cause a mixup with the divorce and probate laws, but I submit the laws of Pennsylvania and Michigan are comparable to those of Massachusetts. If it didn't cause any upheaval there, it won't cause one here."

Denying statements that the majority of the public would fail to benefit under the proposed law, Cleary said the Internal Revenue Collector advised him that anyone earning over $3000 a year would benefit.

New Haven Rail Strike Off 60 Days

NEW YORK, Oct. 23 (AP)—A strike of trainmen on the New Haven Railroad probably will be delayed for at least 60 days as the result of the intervention of the National Mediation Board.

The union had set a strike for Oct. 31, but the Mediation Board stepped in yesterday at the request of the road.

The National Railway Labor Act provides for postponement of a strike for at least 60 days after the board's intervention.

The railroad has accepted an invitation from the board to attend a meeting called for both parties at Washington next Monday. If the board is unsuccessful in settling the issues it is expected to ask President Truman to set up a three-man fact-finding board.

Bans Degaullists In New Cabinet

PARIS, Oct. 23 (AP)—Premier Paul Ramadier said today his newly streamlined cabinet, excluding De Gaullists, had found it necessary to consult the parliament concerning the "danger to the republic" which he said was inherent in the Communist and De Gaullist ideologies.

The government has called the parliament to a session starting Tuesday.

Ramadier told reporters today the political "climate of France is charged with electricity; nerves are on edge." He added that labor movements are being transformed into political movements seeking collapse of authority and the halting of production.

Socialite Flying To Royal Nuptials

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Oct. 23 (AP)—Cobina Wright, Sr., former New York socialite, will leave by plane today en route to London for the wedding of Princess Elizabeth and Lt. Philip Mountbatten.

Mrs. Wright said she met young Mountbatten 12 years ago in Venice.

"We became good friends," she added. "In fact, you might say that Philip courted my daughter, but then I suppose we shouldn't talk about that now, should we?"

Mrs. Wright is taking as a wedding gift a set of figurines representing Queen Elizabeth and Lord Essex, made of plastic and inlaid with jewels, gold and bronze, and a blue quilted skirt and sweater for Princess Elizabeth.

POPULAR JOB

CORDON, France, Oct. 23 (AP)—Candidates for the village council in this little town in upper Savoy are campaigning feverishly for Sunday's runoff elections.

Only two of the candidates for 14 seats on the council got the required majority last Sunday. Next Sunday's balloting requires only a plurality for election.

It was a little difficult to get a majority last week because 103 of the village's 180 residents were candidates.

Eyewitness Fallacy Bared

Two Boston taxi drivers almost went to the electric chair because eight witnesses identified them—erroneously—as participants in a Lynn theater holdup-murder. Witness after witness took the stand and, in all sincerity, pointed accusing fingers at the innocent pair.

Such instances of mistaken identity happen frequently and tragically, according to the article, "You Can't Always Trust Your Eyes," to be featured in Sunday's American Weekly, magazine issued with the Boston Sunday Advertiser.

If you want to test your powers of perception and learn whether you would make a good witness, be sure to read this provocative article.

U. S. Ambassador Linked To Communist Atom Spy Ring

Special to Boston Evening American

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23—A State Dept. official with the rank of ambassador and a government employe who worked on the Los Alamos atomic project are under investigation as members of a Communist espionage ring, it was learned today.

Picked Justice Dept. agents are are not only presenting evidence to the special grand jury in New York city on these persons, but on other Washington officials who are part of a Soviet conspiracy to steal America's top military secrets.

In New York the grand jury reconvened today and subpoenas have been issued for witnesses to appear today and tomorrow. High local representatives of the Communist party are reported on the subpoena list.

It is known that J. Edgar Hoover, FBI director, plans about 25 indictments before the special grand jury before the end of the year.

Also involved in the grand jury investigation is a State Dept. official who is known to have been a leader of the Communist Party cell set up in Washington a decade ago by Harold Ware, member of the Red Fascists' central committee.

This cell was planned by Russian secret police agents for the sole purpose of gathering any and all information valuable to the Soviets. By a secret courier system the information was centralized by the cell members and taken to the Russian embassy.

The State Dept. official who is suspected of aiding the plot to pass this confidential information on to the Russians was a presidential adviser at the Yalta and Potsdam conferences and at San Francisco.

Disney Given Banshees 'Lady'

NEW YORK, Oct. 23 (INS)—The Banshees Club paid tribute today to "Mickey Mouse" and his creator, Walt Disney, by presenting Disney with a special award for outstanding work in the field of newspaper illustration or writing.

The award, the first of its kind and one that is scheduled to be presented annually by the club, is known as the "Lady," and is similar to the "Oscar" of movie fame. It is a handsome statuette depicting a leprechaun and a lady (The Arts).

Presentation of the award to Disney, who made a special trip from the West Coast, was made by Mayor O'Dwyer in the grand ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

The statuette was given to Disney as Mickey Mouse celebrated his 20th girthday.

Truce Halts Long Electric Co. Strike

GALION, O., Oct. 23 (AP)—A nine-week strike, climaxed by a 12-hour siege of the block long plant of the North Electric Co., came to a strained truce early today and 300 supperless men and women went home.

The struggle over union recognition and 20 per cent wage increase demands, with a possible test of the Taft-Hartley Law involved, is to resume Monday in a meeting of officials of the Telephone Equipment Co. and the United Automobile Workers (CIO).

SPEAKS SOFTLY

but carries a big Kick

Go easy, sir, when you come up behind this Buick and the little medallion over its license plate tells you it's a Roadmaster.

For this biggest of all today's Buicks rides the roads with deceptive ease and serenity.

It moves its smooth and easy way in such well-mannered quiet you may think here's one you can safely challenge.

Take our advice — and don't try it.

For with all the bigness of its eighteen feet — with all its solid steadiness of 4400 pounds of curb weight — this model packs 144 Fireball horsepower under its broad bonnet.

And it's power on instant call, power with such quick, singing responsiveness that no special gearing's needed to supply ample passing speed in any situation.

You can't miss, of course, the levelness of the Roadmaster's going. Size and weight and all-coil springing join hands here to make every mile a mile of ease.

Behind its wheel you can't help marveling that a car so big can handle so lightly, holding true on curves, coming smoothly out of sudden swerves, answering wheel and brake obediently whatever the road's condition.

And just seeing this sweetheart pass is enough to settle your mind once and for all that Buick holds the key to coming things in automotive styling.

So it's small wonder that more and more people are picking Roadmaster by name as the car they've set their hearts on.

Small wonder, either, that they're settling matters now — and getting their orders in, certain that on delivery day they'll receive the smartest, liveliest, most wanted car of its time.

Why not place yours, too — with or without a car to trade?

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

THERE IS THIS that is right about Harry Truman's attitude toward the Luckman dramatization and Clinton P. Anderson's attitude—as contradictory as they are.

Harry Truman is faced by two conditions:

1—That George Marshall committed this country to some specific figure of food exports in a relationship to the export of 18,000,000 tons of food last harvest year and that those European countries (16 to 1), which come within the scope of the Marshall plan, expect a delivery of about 1,500,000 tons a month which we do not possess to deliver.

Therefore Mr. Truman wants to conduct a campaign for voluntary abnegation among the American people which will produce as many tons as possible to make up the difference between what is now impossible and what may perhaps be possible. It is bad arithmetic, but he does not want to let George Marshall down. Nor does he want to let Europe down. Criticism of the figures or the plan of sacrifice does not necessarily mean criticism of aid to Europe. It may, in fact, assure such aid.

2—Harry Truman wants to sustain government buying of farm commodities at high prices during a campaign year even though farm prices have run beyond parity. He does not wish farm prices to collapse or even to return to parity until after 1948, if at all. Although this produces an inflationary price structure in the larger cities, he risks it.

One of these propositions is defended on the ground that it will save Europe from Communism; the other that it will save the United States from a Republican victory.

Clinton P. Anderson, an extraordinarily competent secretary of agriculture, knows, because he understands his job:

1—That the United States has a short crop in grains this year because of the drouth;

2—That we can, at most, export about 13,000,000 tons of food this year comfortably;

3—That George Marshall has overpromised and is asking for stretching beyond our capacity in this harvest year;

4—That if we attempt now to export 1,500,000 tons of food to Europe, we shall have a terrifying shortage next March, April and May which will be calamitous in the United States and devastating to Europe;

5—That there is so much poultry and so many eggs in the United States that is is foolhardy, if not dangerous, to have a poultryless and eggless day;

6—That the great need of the world is fats and that reducing fat production on cattle on the hoof will do incalculable harm.

All of this Clinton P. Anderson did not tell me, but it can be accepted from his previous attitude, his 1946 food campaign, his public contradiction of presidential statements and from the reports which are available that that is his general and correct position. That position is the only one that Anderson can consistently support. In fact, no Secretary of Agriculture, at all honest on his job, could take any other position. It is a matter, of course, of perspective.

UNFORTUNATELY, the President was sold a bill of goods to accept a program prepared by an anonymous person or group which Charles Luckman admitted was handed to him, by whom he did not say. The fact is that Secretary of Agriculture Anderson was by-passed and that Herbert Hoover, who had been Truman's food expert, was by-passed. It does not matter that Hoover was by-passed, as he is a private citizen, but the Secretary of Agriculture has a constitutional responsibility which cannot be ignored. Instead the Luckman committee was created to dramatize, by the huckster scare device, shortages which do not exist, while they ignore such a shortage as fats which does exist.

The confusion created by Luckman's dramatization would ordinarily be meaningless, but in a year of reduced grain harvest it must become a menace at the end of the harvest year—a menace not only to the United States but to those whom we hope to aid. Congress ought to find out who wrote the plan that was handed to Luckman and who ordered the by-passing of the Secretary of Agriculture. They will discover the wit of the smart boys whose resignations Truman had accepted before Henry Wallace scared him into taking actions which run counter to his judgment.

WE MUST GET READY NOW

IT IS THE HISTORIC duty of Congress, elected by the American people to serve them, to make legislative arrangement for the ADEQUATE DEFENSE OF THE NATION and the duty of the Administration to put that program into immediate effect.

To FAIL to do so, or to DAWDLE, STALL, OR DELAY, is to BETRAY the American people.

Were there not always the possible danger of war we wouldn't even need an Army, Navy and Air Force.

We have them because we KNOW that another war is NOT IMPOSSIBLE.

We spend BILLIONS OF DOLLARS ON THEM.

But they are WORSE THAN USELESS unless they are ADEQUATE TO MEET THE NEEDS OF MODERN WARFARE.

We called the last war "total war."

The "totality" of the last one will seem like a border skirmish compared to the vast embracing magnitude of the next one.

No man among us will be safe, nor woman, nor child.

And unless EVERY man is TRAINED, every man will be DOOMED.

TO LEAVE AMERICANS untrained and unskilled, ignorant in the needs and demands of war, and physically unfit, and then suddenly to thrust them, so exposed, into REALLY TOTAL BATTLE, is in effect to MURDER them.

We weren't prepared for the last war, despite the warnings we received, and as a result THOUSANDS OF AMERICAN LIVES WERE LOST.

Ask such of those raw recruits who, of desperate necessity, were hurled into the "Battle of the Bulge," what it means to send men into combat UNTRAINED and UNPREPARED. They can tell you.

They can tell you it is a CRIME AGAINST AMERICA to leave this country soft and weak, easy and flabby prey for an unscrupulous enemy.

The leaders of the veterans' oranizations made up of men who have had to fight our last two world wars are telling us now, as they told us—in good advice which was tragically ignored—after the first world war, to BE PREPARED.

They know, too, that in our democracy there is only one way to be prepared, and that is through UNIVERSAL MILITARY TRAINING.

TO DELAY UNNECESSARILY, even for an instant, the enactment of a sound universal military training program such as has kept the valiant little democracy of Switzerland at peace for a century and a half, is dangerously to weaken America.

On the other hand, a STRONG AMERICA will serve to deter any aggressor who might seek to aggrandize his tyranny.

As Congressman J. Parnell Thomas, Republican of New Jersey, told a Reserve Officers' Association chapter, in advocating a program of Universal Military training:

"We must remain firm, strong and vigorous in our preservation of American ideals.

"If the United States remains totally unshaken before the Russians, the Soviet Union may undergo a change of attitude."

Paul H. Griffith, former national commander of the American Legion, speaking in Paris, pointed out that "THE ONLY WAY TO PRESERVE PEACE IS TO MAKE OURSELVES STRONGER," and he added:

"I have always believed in Universal Military Training. What I have seen over here CONFIRMS ME COMPLETELY."

There is only ONE WAY to preserve and secure the free, democratic America that we know, in the midst of a troubled world around us, and that is to be READY FOR ANYTHING.

There is only one effective and efficient way to get ready, and that is through Universal Military Training.

To take any other course is to invite DISASTROUS WAR AGAINST US, with catastrophic sacrifice of American lives—the lives of Americans MURDERED BY UNPREPAREDNESS!

On the Side

By E. V. Durling

He's all the music, all the joy,
All the light in the world, my boy,
He's everything good that I've ever done
And I thank God for my lovely son.

—REBECCA STIRLING.

ABOVE WRITTEN on the occasion of the birth of the author's first child. Her joy is understandable. The poem is touching. But why is it so many mothers say "my son" while fathers are inclined to say our son?"

ASKING: Queries from clients. Q—Name three major league baseball infielders who wore glasses while playing. A—You have me baffled. I can name only one, George "Specs" Torporcer, who played second base for the St. Louis Cardinals . . . Q—Annually you quoted the prayer found in Chester Cathedral on New Year's Day, but omitted it the past two years. Why? A—Just an oversight on my part. In seeking forgiveness for the omission I will quote my favorite lines from this prayer:

George 'Specs' Torporcer

Give me a mind that is not bound.
That does not whimper, whine or sigh;
Don't let me worry overmuch
About that funny thing called I.
Give me a sense of humor, Lord.
Give me the grace to see a joke.
To get some happiness out of life
And pass it on, to other folk.

THE FEMININE portion of the population of Manhattan probably goes in for beautifying and rejuvenating treatments more intensely and enthusiastically than any other group of females in the world. There are beauty shops in Manhattan that keep open until midnight. There is a place devoting itself exclusively to turning out synthetic ash blondes. Another establishment specializes in artificial eyelashes. There is also a rejuvenating outfit that offers to teach seekers after a youthful appearance how to do face lifting by exercises. After three lessons it is claimed the client can go into her exercises and start lifting her face. That's certainly a good trick if you can do it.

HOUSES: As for the housing shortage, an expert on the subject says the nation will require one million, two hundred thousand new houses annually for the next 10 years. How is your "dream house" coming on? My girl friend and I have ours practically all dreamed up. But now we can't decide where to build it.

ROMMEL'S HORSE: The German Field Marshal Rommel's white Arab stallion captured by the British during the war is dead. The animal, very well-behaved when his master was alive, turned wild when captured. All efforts to train him failed. He battled with every man who tried to ride him. Finally he became so dangerous he had to be destroyed. He proved himself to be a one-man horse.

HIDDEN DYNAMITE: "So short girls suffer because the styles favor tall girls," writes a statuesque subscriber of East Wilmington, Mass. "How about high heels? These are distinctly for the benefit of short girls. But tall girls have to wear them because they are the style. Here's another thing. I want to answer that man who said 'tall girls are not cuddly.' I am 6 feet tall and am very cuddly and have as much hidden dynamite as any short, stubby woman alive."

ASIDES: A Roxbury, Mass., subscriber says she paid one dollar and forty-nine cents for six pork chops, or about twenty-five cents per chop. "How does this compare with the pork chop situation in other sections?" she asks . . . Mr. and Mrs. William Moore, San Francisco, have ten daughters all living, and no sons. They want to know how they stand as to the all-daughter family record. Know anybody who has 11 daughters all living and no sons? Incidentally, it is said to be twice as expensive to rear a daughter as a son.

CHECKING: A man can walk on his hands 16 miles a day for 55 days. So claims a student of male physical endurance. Now there is something really interesting to check on for that Milwaukee subscriber who alleges he checks everything appearing in this column.

MAN OF ACTION: "That bachelor who said he was thinking of marrying an Australian girl is evidently a man of great intelligence," writes a San Franciscan. "But he is just thinking of it. I am a man of action. I am leaving for Australia tomorrow to marry a wonderful Australian girl. We plan to settle down in Auckland, New Zealand. You'll be hearing from us. If any feminine readers want to know what the Australian girls have the American girls haven't I will be pleased to enlighten them. The information may do them some good."

"Okay, Dorothy, now's the time to slip me that coin with the heads on both sides!"

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1947, by King Features Syndicate

NEW YORK, Oct. 23—Offhand I can think of no more hypocritical fraud on the people of the United States than the self-inflicted doctrine of equality among and between mankind. Not one person in a million believes in this.

Westbrook Pegler

Even those few who do so believe qualify their attitude with elaborate explanatory notes, and the rest of us only pretend to believe that the wicked and the good, the ignorant and the educated, the yellow and the brave, or even the dull and the amusing, are equal

It is true that a minority of religious persons, by their habitual proximity to God, keep themselves reminded of their limited belief in equality. That is to say, they pinch themselves daily or once a week and assert, privately, that they humbly waive superiority as souls.

However, it does not follow that even these subscribers believe in universal equality of persons, the dirty and the clean, the lazy and the diligent, and so forth.

AMERICANS REGARD as virtues some qualities which, on examination, plainly prove to be mere affectations. Cleanliness is one. The hygienic person abhors the unwashed and uncombed and even the unpressed and feels superior to him.

So robust is this feeling that one firm operated by progressive American businessmen spent millions profitably flattering the self-satisfaction of the one group and drowning in the vile pools of their loathing those who have B. O.

Yet, short of that point at which the nonbathers break out in leprosy, what authority tells us that the clean are nicer than the soiled? And who being tidy would deny, under confidential vows, that he felt superior to the others, who include, significantly, many of the poor?

The Christian policy toward poverty, which, by the way, is invariably paraphrased if not frankly cribbed by political candidates, here builds a paradox. For, while it is elaborate to say that cleanliness is next to Godliness, still cleanliness is highly respected. And still poverty and filth are complementary, and not always perforce.

WE HONOR HEROES and despise the blameless wretches who are afraid in danger and wisely run away. That is a standard of virtue that we just made up.

Without research, I venture the suspicion that it was propagated by barons or military executives to overcome the natural and not at all despicable desire of men to escape pain, captivity and death.

Man saw danger and he ran. Before medals were invented this was recognized as the intelligent thing to do. There was no public opinion to inflate the hero or coerce the coward and the individual consulted only himself.

Animals, in their natural condition, are wiser in such emergencies than men. Two dogs meet. They scuff grass. They bristle. They mutter. One defeated in repartee, suddenly leaps at the other. The other runs and is unhurt. Is he ashamed? Why should he be?

A CAT RUNS AWAY a hundred times when she could slash a bumptious dog to tatters. Is she a coward or serene in her own esteem without respect for the opinions of mankind?

We even send men to jail for laziness in some communities. In gloomy mumbles at the wake we observe that poor Ed, or George, that wonderful man, actually worked himself to death. It would be rude to add, "the fool" but not necessarily impertinent.

The Oriental broomstick cavalry in which Henry Wallace got implicated under Prof. Nicholas Roerich is committed to the proposition that most of mankind consists of factory seconds, manufacturers' samples, spoiled efforts and scrap.

These witches who rode across the moon with crabs, bulls and billygoats embroidered on their vestments and yaller-eyed tomcats hanging on behind, believed furiously in superiority and the reverse.

AS INDIVIDUALS, Americans admire themselves as the most desirable being yet produced. We believe in equality only as a social and political cliche. It would be boastful and bad manners to say, "I am the best" and a great amount of unnecessary fighting would be entailed.

And, of course, any American candidate who dared to express a high opinion of himself would be obliterated at the polls.

Collectively, we show our vanity by our national determination to compel other nations to adopt, in the guise of morals, the notorious corruption and the sanctimonious wickedness which we call our "democracy."

This determination may be fatal to us yet. It is the smuggest and the most indecent show of contempt for the scabby heathen in history.

'COPTER LIFTS "VICTIM" FROM LIGHTHOUSE

A helicopter is tested in Dungeness, Eng., to determine its value in rescuing victims at sea and on storm-swept lighthouses. The demonstration was remarkably successful as the 'copter lifted a man from a lighthouse and a lifeboat.

Hollywood

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 23 (INS)—Telephoned Arthur Hornblow to tell him how much I liked "Cass Timberlane," his latest picture, and he gave me some news. He said his next for MGM is "Carnival in Venice," which will be made right in Venice itself. He says the new Venice is exciting and full of intrigue, and a perfect place to make beautiful exteriors. The story is by S. N. Behrman.

Since Arthur came back he also made arrangements to do a remake of Edith Wharton's "Age of Innocence." With Mrs. Wharton's biography so much discussed these days, Arthur feels it is a good time to bring back this charming story which was one of Katharine Cornell's most popular stage plays.

He also told me how pleased he is that Bubbles Schinasi (Mrs. Hornblow) is going to write a book review column for the New York Journal-American.

GREER GARSON is keeping her promise to have a good time. She's just back from San Francisco where she said she went to the theater, visited the shops, and had herself some fun. Tomorrow she goes to New York for a 10-day whirl at the theaters.

She's been spending quite a lot of time with Norman Collins, who has written the first draft of the sequel to "Mrs. Miniver." Yes, it's that far along. It's the story of Mrs. Miniver after the war.

"You know," said Greer, "I was sitting in a cafe in San Francisco when who should I see but Walter Pidgeon! When I waved to him he thought he was seeing things." Walter, of course, will be in the "Miniver" sequel.

PAULETTE GODDARD came in to see Henry Ginsberg, and she starts work on "Hazard" next Monday with MacDonald Carey. Henry, who has been in Palm Springs for a week, said today when I questioned him about deleting the character of the Negro teacher:

Paulette Goddard

"Yes it's true we are changing the character of Jerry, but it isn't because of censorship. We often change characters in pictures."

Henry said there had been no controversy between himself and New York over Roy Chanslor's story, "Hazard."

"We haven't even had a conversation about it," said Henry.

Apparently the change of character has been made, but who did it, I don't know.

I AM PERSONALLY very sorry that Margaret Sullavan and Leland Hayward have decided to take their troubles to court. I had hoped, with the three small children whom both of them love, that they might be able to work out their difficulties, but apparently things had gone too far.

Margaret, who hasn't seen any of her friends since she came back, will leave for the East after the divorce suit is filed.

I talked to Leland and he said, when I questioned him several weeks ago, that he wanted all statements to come from Margaret, so there was nothing for me to do but say a divorce was being contemplated and would probably go through, which I did.

CHIT-CHAT: Mrs. Phyllis Decker, wife of the late John Decker, the famous artist, says she is going to open an exhibit in her galleries Nov. 20, with some canvases which will leave Hollywood gasping.

She will put 70 oil paintings on display, done by the French artist Georges St. Germain. They are life size paintings of our movie stars, which the artist did from memory after seeing his subjects again and again in American movies in Paris.

Well, John did some marvelous paintings of the stars in historic costumes. The one of Bill Fields as Queen Victoria was a classic.

When Milton Sperling telephoned Lilli Palmer in London to tell her the name of her picture "Ever the Beginning" had been changed to "Tisa," her character in the story, Lilli gave him some news.

She said she and Rex Harrison would be back here for Christmas and that Vivien Leigh and Laurence Olivier would be their house guests over the holidays.

I am wondering how Vivien and Larry can go to Australia, as they planned originally, and still spend the holidays here. Of course, I'll believe they're in Hollywood when I actually see them. Last year we had the same rumor.

A most ingenious contrivance, sort of like a rocker, has been built for Gene Kelly's leg. It is so successful that he will be able to go to London for the Royal Command performance and his doctor says that when he comes back he will be able to dance again.

However, his next picture, with Frank Sinatra, doesn't call for dancing, so his leg will have ample time to get in condition. Gene will wear the rocker from now on. It will support the injured place, which has been broken three times.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD collected at random: Patti Andrews of the famous Andrew Sisters, just as I told you, was married last week-end to Marty Melcher.

Barbara Stanwyck

Barbara Stanwyck, who owns nary a hat, had to borrow one to wear when she was godmother to the Peter Godfrey child, named for her.

Viveca Lindfors split a perfectly good tooth today eating a hard piece of candy. She had to take time out to have it capped.

Paulette Goddard and Burgess Meredith dining with Evelyn Keyes and John Huston at the Chanteclair. When the photographers called Huston "Mr. Meredith" he posed with Paulette, while Burgess did a take with Evelyn.

Quite a turnout to hear the French singer, Roger Dann. He looks a lot like Dick Powell and has an ingratiating personality. With a choice of the right songs, he will go over big. As it was, he received a real ovation. The Chanteclair was recently taken over by Monte Proser and Tom Cassera.

Former U. S. Atty. Charles Carr and Mrs. Carr entertained Bebe Daniels, Ben Lyon, the Harry Brands and Bill Parker. Sir Alexander King and Mark Osterer, with the Peter Rathvons, came over to our table to chat with Bebe and Ben, whom they had known in London. Also at the Rathvons' table were Richard Ney and Jimmy Stack.

Douglas McLean, who looks as if he had found the elixir of youth, stopped to greet us. I don't know why he isn't on the screen in comedies, the kind he used to make so successfully.

Rudy Vallee with Cobina Wright, Sr., who leaves tomorrow for the royal wedding. Cobina was saying au revoir to all her pals and promising to give us a first hand account when she returns.

Frank Borzage, who let the Navy use his home during the war, has just sold it for a reported quarter of a million dollars.

Constance Collier is home and looking wonderful.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

My Boston

By Alan Frazer

THE NAME FRANCIS CRAIG is known all over the world. Mere mention of it has been bringing salvos of applause at the RKO-Boston where Craig finished an engagement last night. But Craig missed comparative obscurity by the thickness of a music disk . . . For 21 years he had played the piano, led his orchestra at the Hermitage Hotel, Nashville. He saw James Melton, Dinah Shore, Kenny Sargent, Kitty Kallen, Phil Harris go from his shows to stardom . . . Then the Bullet disk people had him make a recording of "Red Rose," his theme song for 15 years . . . "We've got to put something on the other side of the disk," they told him. "Can't you give us another Craig tune? Any old thing will do." . . . "Sure, I'll whip up something," said Craig.

THREE WEEKS later he had whipped-up "Near You." For the left hand he put in that boogie-woogie which he calls a Dixie beat. For the right hand, he put in his heart . . . "Here, this is my swansong," he said. "I'm going disk-jockeying and take life easy" . . . "Well, we've got nothing to lose, 'Red Rose' will sell the disk," they said . . . Nobody turned the disk over for a month. The juke boxes ground out "Red Rose." Even Craig, after becoming a disk-jockey for station WMS, Nashville, wasn't playing his own "Near You." . . . Then somebody turned a disk over, and there was fame smiling at Craig . . . "Boston was one of the first places it caught on," he said.

DAVE KAPP, vice-president of Decca, called up from New York: "We want your tune, we've got plans for it." . . . "OK, if you also get a good company in New York to publish it," said Craig . . . So Decca and Bregman, Vocco & Conn formed the Supreme Music Corporation for one purpose, to publish "Near You." . . . Supreme has sold half a million copies of the sheet music. Bullet has sold 946,000 disks . . . The Andrews Sisters made the recording for Decca. Larry Green did one for Victor, Elliot Lawrence for Columbia, Alvino Rey for Capitol, Victor Lombardo for Majestic and others for Rainbow and Sterling . . . And Craig, besides a large cut from Bullet, gets one cent for each disk sold by all the others, and a cent and a half for each copy of sheet music.

CRAIG, ninth of 10 children of a Methodist minister, father of two daughters, 15 and 18, is walking on air as he tours America, heads for an engagement on Broadway next month . . . "Best part of it is that staid old Yankee Boston bought 40,000 disks of my song in one week," he said . . . Craig named his piece before a professional lyrics writer, Kermit Goell, wrote the words. On Dec. 1 he will publish another: "Beg Your Pardon" . . . Bob Lamm, the blind singer, who vocalized the original recording of "Near You" for Bullet, has been singing it at the RKO . . . It's a honey . . . Wonder what they'll put on the other side of the disk?

COVERING BOSTON: There will soon be a 1¼ grain aspirin tablet on the market. You won't have to break a 5-grain tablet in half for your children . . . Henry Wallace told Zero Mostel in Chicago: "I just got the point of that story you told at my meeting in the Boston Arena." . . . The crew of the Coast Guard cutter Bibb will be tendered a heroes' party at the Copley Plaza, Oct. 30 . . . Left-handed girls need not worry, they can learn shorthand as easily as the right-handed, according to Miss Theresa Regan, headmaster of Boston Clerical School.

COURT business transacted in Brookline may be null and void because there's no state flag at the courthouse, according to Atty. Timothy J. McInerney, quoting General Laws, Chapter II, Section 6. He may provide one if Brookline or Norfolk County won't do so . . . Charles Luckman, Greater Boston's gift to the nation's food program, was varsity cheer leader at the University of Illinois, where he was graduated in 1931, married his co-ed sweetheart two days later . . . Henry Morgan, the radio comedian, once lost his job with a local network because he stayed out to take a law school exam . . . And Frank Waldecker, on his uppers here after a show folded, turned to radio on the North Shore, now announces for Gabriel Heatter and lives on Park ave.

DON MITCHELL, president of Sylvania Electric Products at 42, made a small fortune selling real estate while only 20 and a junior at the University of Florida . . . Why doesn't Gen. Bradley put that proposed Boston veterans hospital in the conveniently-situated, expanding medical center on Harrison ave? . . . School Supt. John M. Tobin of Cambridge is a son of Dan Tobin, the labor leader . . . The Latin Quarter now broadcasts six nights a week from 11:15 to 1 a. m. in a glass "monkey cage" facing the bar . . . Rep. John D. Brown of the Back Bay says there are 1800 persons in Boston with sex-offense records . . . A Boston doctor, specializing in women's cases, admits he fixes his fee on the basis of how much his patient probably paid for her slip.

Washington Scene

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23—My very soul is shaken to the depths. I have just seen how the dirty capitalistic system grinds the poor worker under its iron heel.

It was a spectacle of human degradation at its worst; a manifestation of man's inhumanity to man.

I witnessed, with mine own tear-filled eyes, 13 poor exploited victims of capitalism who are forced to eke out a Bear existence on $1,092,000 a year!

AND YET those downtrodden serfs managed to smile through it all.

Presumably because misery loves company they sat together in the front row of prospective witnesses at the House un-American activities committee hearing on Communism in Hollywood. They did not shiver in their poor rags, because the room was warm, and besides, their rags weren't too poor. One even wore a monocle.

These were the thirteen alleged pinks, fellow travelers and such, who have been denounced by the committee's witnesses—the capitalist tools!—as leaders in Hollywood's Red infiltration.

The million-dollar babies are said to be bitterly opposed to the outmoded system of free enterprise which saddles them with all this proletarian wealth.

WHILE the exploited 13 were sitting there, brave in the face of adversity, I went around trying to get a line on them. I talked to James K. McGuinness, one of the big men at MGM; Sam Wood, the director-producer; Jack L. Warner of Warner Bros.; committee investigators, etc., and this is the gist of what I learned:

Lewis Milestone, director, salary about $3000 a week. A long record of membership in many fronts. Listed as a member of the board of directors of the American Russian Institute of Southern California.

Dalton Trombo, screen writer, salary about $3500 a week. Author of "Johnny Get Your Gun", a piece of anti-war propaganda. The Commies were singing its praises at the time they were picketing the White House to protest this country getting into the war. Stalin then being allied with Hitler. His play was serialized in the Daily Worker.

Larry Parks, actor, salary about $1500. Starred in the "Jolson Story." Described as just one of the young idealists who are susceptible to flattery.

Ring Lardner, Jr., writer, salary about $1500. Listed as a sponsor of the American Youth for Democracy (formerly the Young Communist League). The brilliant but erratic son of the great Ring Lardner. His father must be turning in his grave.

Gordon Kahn, writer (the monocle wearer), salary about $1500, managing editor of "The Screen Writer," listed as a spokesman for The Hollywood Writers Mobilization.

JOHN HOWARD LAWSON, writer, salary about $1500. Described by the California state committee on un-American activities as "California's outstanding Communist."

Herbert Biberman, director, salary about $2000. Prominent in the Hollywood Anti-Nazi League, The League Against War and Fascism, the League for Democratic Action and a whole raft of those things with names purloined from democracy.

Samuel Ornitz, writer, salary about $2000. Used to be with the pinko sheet, New Masses, until he found gold in Hollywood.

Irving Pichel, director, salary $2000. Long fellow-traveling record.

Lester Cole, writer, salary about $1700. Another of those fellows extremely susceptible to flattery.

Albert Maltz, writer, salary about $1000. Denounced by the California State Committee as a "Communistic dialectic writer who has been used for a number of years as window dressing for the Communist party."

Howard Koch, writer, salary about $1000. Member of the Hollywood Writers Mobilization.

Alvah Bessie, writer, salary about $1000. Listed as a director of the American Russian Institute.

Despite their poverty, none of the 13 is being put up at the municipal flophouse during their stay here.

Youth Held, Pal Swims to Freedom

A 17-year-old Roxbury youth was captured in a stolen automobile chase along VFW parkway, West Roxbury, today while a companion the same age escaped—despite two warning shots—by swimming the Charles river to the Dedham shore. Police said they knew the identity of the second youth and expect his arrest hourly.

Patrolmen Stephen Smolinski and Chester Wojdakowski were cruising along Baker st. when they spotted a car listed as stolen.

Two youths leaped from the machine as the patrolmen, each firing a shot, gave chase on foot. Smolinski soon collared one of the youths, but the other made the water's edge and plunged in, fully clothed.

through streets in Boston, to Garmisch, at whose mountain-locked airport I was greeted by 1st. Lt. Lawrence Ballantine of 15 Edgemont st., Roslindale. He was the only New Englander I bagged today. This is the region where, as the Germans date everything "before Hitler," Europe's wealthy dudes and crinoline judys once strutted, frolicked and sniffed the high altitude air, as nourishing as a New England boiled dinner. It ranked as a "chip-joint," which only the rich could afford.

But Europe's rich have ceased to exist or are reduced to a ragtag, wistful aristocracy. The U. S. Army has taken over the best hotels, like the Reisersee, Partenkirchen Hof, Baddersee — more than a score of pensions and hostels where furloughed soldiery loaf around the streets, swallow plentiful vintages of both high and low voltage, and stare briefly at the geological wonder called the Bavarian Alps, or the Austrian Tyrol, if you happen to be on the French zone side.

The soldiers, many of whom come in their privately owned cars (jeeps, volkswagons etc.), are only mildly impressed. By virtue of their profession they are rarely nature lovers, so a few glances and snapshots suffice before searching for a cold seidel of lager, and companionship—feminine preferred.

I went to the CIC school (Counter Intelligence Corps) on the hillside beyond Oberammergau, home of the decennial Passion Play. I dismissed my jeep driver while I went to investigate the cops-and-robbers function of this supposed spy-college, though actually it is nothing but a primary course in common sense. I said: "Look around this old town and see if you find anything interesting," adding that American pre-war tourists paid fortunes to make this pilgrimage. Later, after my visit proved a complete bust, due to a half holiday when everybody scatters like autumn leaves, I asked the GI what he saw.

"Slick place," he said. "There's a fine service club and bar down there."

What price cultural abstraction when a man can see history and tradition in its proper perspective—through the bottom of a beer glass? "I'm no tourist," snorted the driver. "And he isn't!"

Passing in Garmisch I noticed a display of German language newspapers, among them some that I did not recognize as U. S. zonal journals.

"Ja," said the bookshop owner. "These come from the Russian zone."

RED PROPAGANDA

And here is another demonstration of theoretical democracy. For these Russian-sponsored papers are heavily loaded with state-prepared propaganda, sniping at U. S. "hypocrisy."

"Americans are long on promises but short on delivery," said one Soviet-inspired editor—a familiar wheeze used with parrot-like repetition. "The American zone faces a starvation winter due to administrative failure . . ." and so forth.

It matters little that this Communist-German editor knows this is malicious falsehood; that the prospect of dwindling German foodstuffs is due to a record drouth which withered cereals, potatoes, vegetables and fruits to half their natural size and harvest. To this editor it was merely an opportunity to spread distrust, suspicion and unrest. And with our brainproud tolerance we allow such poison to be spread through this zone while the Russians forbid U. S. zone papers from being circulated in their spheres. Why? Simply because our theorists say that what is good for America with its five generations of Democracy, is also good for the Germans, with their 2000 years of autocracy. Apparently MG's policy makers don't read history.

Tonight, for a change, I sit in a dilapidated, drafty old Bavarian hostel where part of a Constabulary troop is quartered. It is substandard to most of the U. S. troop billets, usually staffed by German kitchen help and cleaners. In fact, Germans at a small wage, do most of the menial work. The electric power has an irritating way of winking on and off while I write, emerging from total darkness like a tired sigh. It's been a thwarting day in all ways. Tomorrow I will wangle an L-5 plane and flit through these canyons back to Augsburg. G'night!

I WOULD OUST REDS

Taylor, yesterday, told the House committee that if he had his way he would ship the army of Communists in Hollywood "back to Russia."

Previous to Taylor taking the witness stand, Chairman Thomas announced that the Communist affiliations and activities of 79 Hollywood personalities would be presented in documentary form before the hearing soon.

After a secret committee executive session, Thomas further stated that new disclosures regarding Communist espionage would be brought out by a witness Monday.

A library agent, sent to Hollywood by Communist party headquarters in New York, obtained secret data on America's supersonic plane from a test pilot, a witness testified yesterday before the committee.

Robert Taylor, in citing the "disruptive influence" of Communists as Communist sympathizers in the film colony, detailed their tactics in meetings of the Actors Green Guild.

The Nist bloc, he said, would always have someone who didn't understand what the issue was prolonging the meeting until 2 a. m., by which time the pro-American members would have left.

WOULD REFUSE WORK

He asserted emphatically that he would refuse to work in any film in which a known Communist was associated.

James K. McGuiness, MGM producer-writer, in his testimony named five men as having "consistently followed the party line at every twist and turn."

Those he named were Donald Ogden Stewart, Hy Kraft, Richard Colns, Ring Lardner, Jr., and Jule Dassein, all writers.

McGuiness termed three films, mentioned frequently during the hearings as pro-Soviet propaganda, as "intellectual" Lend Lease" which he never regarded too seriously. The films were "Mission to Moscow," "North Star" and "Song of Russia."

He said MGM was planning an anti-Communist film entitled "Vespers of Vienna" from a novel entitled "The Red Danube."

McGuiness detailed how the Communists used fronts with a Hollywood tag which created "glamor" and produced enormous fund-raising results.

McGuiness said that the Communists vainly attempted to [illegible] a film dealing with the life of Eddie Rickenbacker, World War I flying ace, off the screen.

Morris Ryskind, noted screen writer and co-author of the Pulitzer prize play "Of Thee I Sing" and "Louisiana Purchase," was another witness.

Ryskind related how his wife joined the League Against War and Facism, later cited as a Communist subversive outfit by former Atty. Gen. Biddle.

The witness said he looked over the list of officers and warned his wife it was a Communist front but that she insisted it was only an organization interested in "civil liberties."

"Three weeks later my wife resigned," continued Ryskind. "She said: 'You're right. They are interested in civil liberties—but only for Communists.'"

U. S. to Ignore Red UN Smear

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 23 (AP) —The United States will make no answer "in kind" to Andrei Y. Vishinsky's blistering "warmonger" accusations but plans instead a strong appeal to the United Nations to reject Soviet demands for curbs on free speech and free writing, an authoritative delegation source said today.

The American policy speech will be made in the 57-nation political committee by permanent Delegate Warren R. Austin and was ready for delivery today.

The delegation source said Austin's half-hour speech was written before Vishinsky opened the committee debate on "warmongering" and would be revised only slightly. The informant said the U. S. had no intention of being drawn into a "mud-slinging" contest with the Soviet Union.

Hannon to Head Hub Eviction Aid

Acting speedily on the request of the Governor, Acting Mayor John Hynes has appointed former City Councilor Thomas G. J. Hannon of West Roxbury, to head a committee charged with finding homes for the evicted. Headquarters will be opened next week at the Buddies Club on Boston Common.

Gov. Bradford asked all communities to set up committees to aid evicted families and make weekly reports on conditions throughout the state.

At the same time Acting Mayor Ambrose English of Everett, asked the Governor for permission to use the Chelsea st. armory and private halls to house temporarily those evicted. He added that two evicted families now are living in the municipal building at the city yard.

Scientific Aid for Hair

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE
Beauty and Fashion Editor

THE MISSUS isn't minus when it comes to her own hair . . . but it is high time she communicated some of her own enthusiasm and interest to the head of the head guy of the house.

Of course, it is always the gent with the sparse locks who refuses to do as the Missus does . although his eyes assure him of her enviably grand crowning glory. He foots the bills . . . but, for the life of him . . he can't see why his crop gets thinner and thinner as the wife's gets better all the time with every oil and scientific tonic treatment.

Invariably he's the guy who swims without a cap . . . who exposes his hair to the shower day in and day out . . . or who plasters it down with an overdose of water to keep that part straight as a dart. Usually he boasts he is strictly a soap and water man . . . has been for years. That water is good for the hair . . . silly boy!

Yet we have a sneaky suspicion that he tosses off a few choice epithets at the mirror's reflection of his thinning-out pate and wonders if it could be an idiosyncrasy of nature. There are many, many women who are in the same boat . . . who persistently and fallaciously use water as a hair tonic and dressing.

For the good of his hair . . . and the preservation of what's left of it . . . we're hoping the Missus takes up the cudgels and puts him wise to a famous preparation ideally suited to scientific hair and scalp conditioning. Or . . . better still . . . gets it for him and insists that he use it. And gets it for herself . . . to keep her locks ever a shining example.

NATURAL OILS FADE

Hair is hygroscopic . . . it absorbs a great deal of water. When this water dries out . . . it tends to take with it the necessary and natural oils of scalp and hair. That's why excess wetting leaves hair in a strawlike, lifeless condition . . . brittle, unsightly, hard to manage, hard to comb . . . reaching in eventual state when dryness turns into snowy white flakes.

Nor are the men and women who plaster their hair down with sticky concoctions . . . which rob their hair of its natural beauty . . . immune to sluggish and weak scalps. Improper hair dressings interfere with the natural oil secretion of the hair follicle . . . stifling the natural activity of the tiny organs which surround it.

This unusual tonic . . . stimulating and an excellent hair and scalp toner . . . penetrates the hair follicles to remove dandruff, dust and oil. So don't groom your hair with goo . . . don't douse it with water . . . but give it a cleansing, scientific dressing that slicks it down as it conditions the scalp.

CHANGE your hair style as often as you change your clothes, Frances Gifford, one of Hollywood's most beautiful actresses, advises women. With the wealth of wonderful hair she has . . . it is easy doing for Frances to match her moods with new hairdos. And Frances does all of her own hair styling, too. We venture to say the fair Frances has a word or two to say about the hair atop the heads of her male companions, also.

Style Show Male Jury Approves 'New Look'

BOSTON'S "men about town" have been doing a lot of talking ex officio about the "I've got something precious" look of the new feminine, and it is feminine, silhouette. And last night, as a hand-picked male jury, they liked what they saw, applauded and cheered for it, and said so publicly.

Wives and sweethearts, please take notice. The man in your life will be no different in his fashion fancy for you!

At the first of a series of Wednesday night dinner-fashion shows, sponsored by Lamson and Hubbard in the Hotel Somerset Balinese Room, an inclusive showing of coats, suits, dresses and evening gowns was offered to a critical male body and emerged triumphantly as the right look for women.

"NEW LOOK LIKE A MELODY"

"The new look will get the same look as the old look," said Leo Morris, song writer and composer of "Let's Be Neurotic Together," "I Can't Stand You, You're Sluggish," and other tunes, especially written for songstress Betty Ann Groves of Sammy Eisen's band. He was a member of the jury.

"Since the new look is dropping hemlines, it is also dropping the decolletage and I'm for that," added Will Davenport, advertising executive.

Al Navarro, society band leader, and another male expert, panted: "The new look is wonderful, like a melody."

"No man in his right mind could resist the recaptured femininity of the new clothes," Lawrence H. Richmond, executive director of the New England Apparel Industries, contributed as this thought.

Robert L. Daley, a member of the Harvard University Hasty Pudding Show, announced the male collegiate could be counted in as an advocate of the "new look." Others who also agreed were Sargent F. Collier, photographer-publicist, Al Capp artist, and Francis Hart, whose Boston bevy of beauties, the Hart Girls, modeled the Lamson and Hubbard clothes.

All in all it was a great triumph for the women who are desirous of recapturing the alluring, feminine look but were a trifle concerned about male criticism.

At the conclusion of the show, the male jurors selected as their top choices a hunter green velvet evening gown with low neckline and trimmed with a band of mink in fichu effect and bodice-tied for formal wear. And, an electric blue two-piecer for daytime. The dress-jacket ensemble had deep folds on the front of the dress and the jacket hugged the figure.

HANDSOME ENSEMBLE

A handsome David Crystal designed ensemble of red, hooded gabardine dress and black, red and white bold plaid great coat (which we pictured recently on the page) got the show off to a flying start. It was followed by a Shamrock green fur-lined portrait coat, with deep collar and pockets and great back flare.

Other highlights of the show, which drew rounds of applause from both the men and the guests, included a striking black lace and crepe after-five dress, the lace bodice hanging in handkerchief point peplum effect below the waistline over a slim black crepe skirt. The neckline of this dress adds great drama to the situation. Boned in back to hug the neck, it was reminiscent of the dowager dog-collar of the past, although in reverse, for in front it came to a low V.

Black broadcloth was shown in both suits and coats and glistened with its customary glamor as one of the most popular of the prodigal fabrics. Coats that flared in back and coats that were fitted typified the fashion keynote of the season. One of the most striking coats was one in black and striped gray and black combination of fabric, the skirt ballerina full to accent the contrasting inserts.

Satin as a fashion-right fabric for afternoon was also accented.

All in all, if the opinion of this hand-picked male jury is any criterion, the "new look" is here to stay and will enjoy a happy reception wherever it goes.

Serve More Fresh Fruits and Save Grain

By MARTHA LEE, Household Editor

THE MORE FRUIT is used for desserts, the less need there will be for cakes and puddings that call for such items as flour and other cereals, eggs and fat. Fruits are abundant in the market this fall—fresh ones as well as dried and canned ones; and some are selling at prices below a year ago.

Supplies of sugar are adequate now, too, and that simplifies dessert preparation since fruit dishes call for considerable use of one or the other for sweetening.

BAKED FRESH PEARS

Large fall Russet pears
1 cup sugar, or ½ cup sugar plus ½ cup honey or corn syrup
⅓ cup water
2 tbsp. lemon juice

Cut pears in half lengthwise and remove cores. Combine sugar, honey or corn syrup, water and lemon juice in saucepan. Bring to boil and boil rapidly for five minutes. Place pears in a shallow baking dish. Pour syrup on and around pears. Cover dish. Bake at 350 deg F. until almost tender, about 20 to 30 minutes, depending on firmness. Remove cover; increase heat to 450 deg. F. and bake 10 minutes longer, basting frequently to glaze. Makes six sugar, ginger, raisins and nuts; plain or with cream.

Baked apples are an old standby and because they lend themselves to variety in the way of stuffing, they can be served again and again during fall and winter months without fear of monotony.

BAKED APPLES

Select firm apples such as Jonathans or McIntoshes. Core six medium-sized apples and place in baking dish; fill each cavity with two tablespoons brown, granulated or maple sugar, dash each of cinnamon and nutmeg, and one-half tsp. butter or margarine. Cover bottom of pan with boiling water and bake, covered, in moderately hot oven (375 to 400 deg. F.) until apples are soft; if baked, uncovered, baste occasionally with syrup in pan. Remove apples, boil syrup until thick and pour over apples. Serve hot or cold with cream.

Before baking, the cavities of the apples may be filled with one of the following mixtures and baked as directed above: Brown sugar, ginger, raisins and nuts: brown sugar, cinnamon, chopped dates or figs; chopped preserved ginger, watermelon rind, quince, cranberry or currant jelly.

SPICED DRIED FRUIT

Use any of the plentiful dried fruits—prunes, raisins, peaches or apples, as desired. Wash the fruit, put in a saucepan and cover with boiling water. Soak until the fruit is soft throughout. Avoid too long soaking because it draws out too much flavor. Simmer the fruit slowly in the same water in which it soaked until it is tender. Add a very small amount of spice—clove, nutmeg, cinnamon or allspice, and sugar to taste. Cook a few minutes longer. The sweeter dried fruits like prunes and raisins need little or no sugar; but dried peaches and apples need about ⅓ cup of sugar for each cup of dried fruit.

For extra fresh fruit flavor and vitamin C, squeeze lemon or orange juice over the spiced fruit before serving.

STEWED APPLES

8 medium-sized tart apples
1 cup water 1 cup sugar
2 tsp. grated orange rind

Wash, pare, core carefully, and cut apples in eighths, dropping in cold water to prevent discoloration. Cook sugar and water, stirring over low heat until sugar is dissolved. Boil 2 minutes, and add grated orange rind. Drain apple sections and cook a few at a time in the syrup until transparent. If syrup thickens during cooking, add more boiling water. Makes 6 servings.

Relax in Lounging Outfit

By EILEEN CALLAHAN

COMFORT is a state of mind as well as an attitude of physical relaxation. When you come right down to it, the dentist's chair is one of the most comfortable pieces of furniture you will find. It is softly padded, it has lovely head and foot rests, it's adjustable to the individual. It even has running water and electric lights. Yet the dentist's chair is anything but comfortable to him who sits thereon.

Since mental ease must precede physical comfort, the woman who looks forward to the peace of a quiet evening at home should take steps that will insure her getting it. It is impossible to relax wholly when you know you look a fright.

Sloppy bedroom slippers, a hitched-up skirt and your husband's old sweater may be the easiest things to get into when you come home tired in the evening, but you won't feel half as wonderful in them as you will in an attractive housecoat or a pair of luxurious lounging pajamas. If friends drop in unexpectedly they will find you looking your loveliest.

Milk Shortage Predicted If Drouth Continues

WORCESTER, Oct. 23 (AP)—An H. P. Hood & Co. official said tonight that New England faces a severe milk shortage this fall if freezing weather sets in before enough rain falls to replenish thousands of wells.

A. C. Aldrich, of Boston, executive board member of the milk distributing firm, said only adequate rainfall between now and freezing temperatures will prevent many farmers from being without water until spring.

U. S. Navy Doctor Hails Cold Cure

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (AP)—Chance discovery of a new—and still experimental—method of treating the common cold was described by a Navy doctor.

Capt. John M. Brewster, in the U. S. Naval Medical Bulletin, described experimental of benadryl, an allergy drug, in 100 cases of common cold of virus origin, and asserted:

"It has proved to be the most satisfying single therapeutic agent for the treatment of the common cold. The results have been sufficiently encouraging, it is believed," he said, "to warrant publication and more extensive study."

They rfe William Clark McClure, 84, of Lovelock, Nev., and Alberta Littlejohn, 81, of Oakland, Cal., both deaf mutes who were a-courtin' a half century ago in San Francisco and Santa Rosa, Cal., but separated when he went to Nevada.

Arlington JVA Sponsors Council

First meeting of the year will be held by the Arlington Youth Council at 7:45 next Tuesday evening at Robbins Library Hall, according to Henry E. Keenan, 801 Mass. ave., public relations chairman and sponsor of the Junior Victory Army Corps there.

Purpose of the council, which was formed last spring, is to eliminate duplication of time, money and effort by the various youth groups in Arlington and to provide opportunity for discussion of common problems.

Three projects believed to be of immediate concern to the youth-serving agencies were started during the summer. They are:

(1) A questionnaire circulated in all high schools to learn the educational and creational interests of students; (2) A general statement describing the services and activities offered by each agency and (3), for all organizations, a calendar of coming events so that conflicts of dates may be avoided.

To join the JVA, send your name, age and address to the Junior Victory Army, P. O. Box 228, Boston, Mass. If, in addition to enlistment, you want the JVA insignia pin and membership card, enclose a 10-cent coin, well-wrapped, in your letter.

Read the next JVA story in Friday's Daily Record.

Smart Set By BETTY ALDEN — Plans for Debut

DEBUTANTE SALLY AMES is coming to Boston from McGill University to make her debut at a dance given by her paternal grandmother, Mrs. Roger W. Cutler of Arlington st.

At this point Sally's acquaintance in Boston is limited to girls she has met at the fashionable schools she attended in California and New York because even though this is her native city she lived most of her 17 years on the West Coast.

Mrs. Arthur Fiedler

The dance, for about 400, will be at The Country Club, Saturday evening, Nov. 15, with Harry Marshard playing, and Mrs. Cutler, a leader in Boston and Newport social circles, will have a most select guest list.

Sally is the daughter of Mrs. Ernest Charles, wife of a composer, of Beverly Hills, Cal., and the late Frederick Lothrop Ames, Jr., of Boston. Her grandmother was the widow of F. L. Ames of the distinguished New England Ames clan before she married Mr. Roger W. Cutler, member of an equally aristocratic Back Bay family.

The debutante is a freshman at McGill University. She attended Miss Westlake's School in California, famous for being Shirley Temple's Alma Mammy, and graduated from Brearley School in New York last June.

MR. AND MRS. ARTHUR FIEDLER of Brookline are the proud parents of their second daughter, Deborah, born yesterday at Richardson House. Mrs. Fiedler is the former Ellen Bottomley, daughter of Mrs. John T. Bottomley of Beacon st. The father of the 8-pound baby is conductor of Boston's famous Pops Concerts.

BOSTON WOMEN who are doing their own k. p. duty these days are so eager to learn the latest tips on successful cookery many of them are taking private cooking lessons from Madame Dione Lucas, graduate of the Gordon Bleu in Paris. The lessons are Friday afternoons following the series of morning demonstrations Madame Lucas is giving to benefit the Smith College Anniversary Fund.

Mrs. Wallace Lincoln Pierce, 2d, gracious young hostess in her own big home in Chestnut Hill, is taking the private lessons together with her mother-in-law, Mrs. Walworth Pierce, Mrs. Weston Adams, Mrs. Ellen Laight, Mrs. W. P. C. Smith, Mrs. Wm. P. Murphy, Mrs Julia Sullivan, Mrs. Louis Davlin, Mrs. John Norton, Mrs. A. M. Lang, Mrs. Robert Steinert, Mrs. Harold McKinney and Mrs. Fred M. Kimball.

Although unable to stir a batter because of a broken wrist, Mrs. Terris Greenslet is sitting in at the private lessons and learning the tricks of making savory sauces to doll up the less expensive foods that we are all trying to feature in our menus.

If you go to Madame Lucas' cooking lecture tomorrow you'll get tips on making Vichysoise, frogs legs meuniere, loin of lamb with roquefort cheese, cauliflower polonaise, fresh raspberry mousse and tempting little cakes.

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH, Brookline, is having its annual fair Saturday from two to nine under the chairmanship of Mrs. W. M. Parker Mitchell. It's a "Home Fair" this year with supplies and gifts from attic to cellar and for added attraction tea, dinner and a play producted by Mrs. Frederic C. Lawrence, wife of the rector, and Mrs. George Cutts.

The men are helping, too, with Elliott Reynolds, treasurer, William Unkles in charge of dinner reservations and Walter Sumner and Hugh Mitchell in the play.

John Lutz Bennett Dies Suddenly in Hongkong

NEW YORK, Oct. 23—Word of the death of John Lutz Bennett, 37, former Hearst Corp. employe and an ex-major in the Army Air Forces, was received here today.

He died suddenly in Hongkong Oct. 14 while in the Far East on business for the American firm of which he was vice-president.

SO SORRY

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 23 (AP)—When only 11 jurors appeared to hear testimony in a scheduled trial before Circuit Judge De Witt Crowe yesterday he ordered a bailiff to find the absent juror.

The bailiff told Judge Crowe he had telephoned the 12th juror, Mrs. Marion Leimkuehler, and she told him:

"I'm sorry but I can't come. I've got company coming today and I have to stay home to bake some chicken for them."

Judge Crowe fined her $5 for contempt of court.

ditch effort to save the settlement of 15 homes, a church, a school and a store. Waterboro and South Waterboro were thus far spared by the wind.

Additional help was sought by Bar Harbor to fight a stubborn conflagration on Mt. Desert Island, moving emnacingly toward Hull's Cove, only three miles north of the fashionable summer resort.

112 INJURED

State police called in doctors and nurses and ambulances from Maine General Hospital at Portland, 20 miles to the east. An undetermined number of firemen were reported suffering from cuts and smoke inhalation. At least 12 men were treated for cuts.

Great sections of Maine lay under a heavy cloak of smoke Those who had taken to the air to see the blazes reported smoke and heat several thousand feet high. At Cape Elizabeth, the smoke haze was so heavy that the Portland Head light automatic foghorn sounded for many hours Personnel at the light reported visibility less than a mile.

Warden Supervisor Austin 31 Wilkins at Portland reported that most of the state's 50 blazes were being held in control although today's brisk breezes threatened to undo all the fire fighters have done."

AID HOMELESS

The Red Cross was at work in areas where there were homeless. Arthur Calvin, New England director of the Red Cross, reported the 600 homeless in the Goose Rocks-Kennebunkport district.

"We planned special shelters," he said. "But we find that there were good neighbors who acted first. Maine people seem to be like that."

At Kennebunkport, messages scribbled on the Town Hall walls told where homeless had gone. Some of them read:

"Two Black boys, call your home." "Mrs. Frank Holbrook, your two children are at Peggy Littlefield's." "Frank Montgomery, your wife is at the Narragansett hotel."

Four Cape Porpoise boys were reported missing to State Police, but the latter felt sure the boys were tagging along with fire-fighters and would be located.

100 MASS. FIRES

There were more than 100 fires burning throughout Massachusetts, the worst in Gloucester woodlands.

State Forestry Director Raymond J. Kenney said most of them had broken out in the last 24 hours and the situation "is going to be very bad until we get heavy rain."

Many homes were threatened in the Gloucester fire and others burning in Annisquam but hundreds of volunteers checked the blazes with only woodland damage.

There was one casualty in Quincy, where flames had burned over 20 acres of the Quincy Rod and Gun Club. Eugene G. Smith, 17, of Center st., Dorchester, was wounded by a spent bullet, exploded by the heat of flames. The bullet was removed at the office of Dr. Frank Rubin in Quincy, who reported the accident to the police.

Two fresh National Guard companies, one from Adams and the other from North Adams, were ordered out to relieve two from Pittsfield who fought Washington township's October mountain blaze all night without relief

Other Bay State fires considered to be "serious" were either blazing or smouldering at Fitchburg, Royalston, Palmer, Shrewsbury, Wabster, Swansea, Freetown, Norwood, Wrentham Easton, Peabody and Beverly

In New Hampshire, Gov. Dale considered halting all lumbering operations until the fire menace is over.

Fires were burning at Madison, Wakefield, Goshen, Newbury and in the Rochester-Farmington area. Three homes were destroyed in the Madison fire and four firemen were overcome by smoke and heat.

MIKADO ON 13TH TOUR

TOKYO, Oct. 23 (AP)—Emperor Hirohito left today on his 13th provincial trip—a tour of the Hokuriku district of Honshu.

FATAL PITY

DENVER, Oct. 23 (AP)—Officials at City Park Zoo thought Solo, Shorty and Blacky, bear cubs, deserved more than a life of begging peanuts from amused crowds.

So when the trio reached their first birthday, they arranged with the Colorado Game and Fish Commission to release them in the mountains near famed Mt. Evans.

Today commission officials announced sadly Solo, Shorty and Blacky were dead, killed by proud hunters as the bears sat up begging for peanuts.

Maron's Death Leap a Mystery

After an all-day investigation, Atlantic City police yesterday said they were unable to discover why Mrs. Charles Allen Loring, Jr., 3, of Annisquam, former Beacon st., society woman and mother of two children, plunged to her death from her ninth floor room in the Ambassador Hotel.

Capt. of Detectives E. J. Eckstein said he had questioned the victim's husband and his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Loring.

"They had been out drinking," Eckstein said. "and Mrs. Loring jumped from the ninth floor after returning there with her husband. There is no explanation further than that."

After leaving the Edward Lorings off at the fourth floor the couple returned to their suite and the victim, dropping her mink coat into a chair walked over to the window and plunged to her death.

Loring told authorities he was unable to explain the tragedy.

Boston Common Shooting Suicide Identified

Poor health since his discharge from the Army was blamed today for the death of Joseph Bragoli, 35, of Broad alley, North End, a World War II veteran who was found dead of a gunshot wound on Boston Common, with a .32 caliber revolver at his side.

The victim's father, John Bragoli, corroborated tentative identification of the body by the police through fingerprints. He said his son left home at 7:30 Tuesday night and had been nervous and melancholy since leaving the service.

Jay Gould's Ex-Wife Weds Liquor Scion

SANTA BARBARA, Cal. Oct. 23 (AP)—Jennifer Bruce Gould, 23, ex-wife of Jay Gould III and daughter of actor Nigel Bruce, was married to Arthur Gilbey, 28, member of the wealthy British distilling family, at the First Presbyterian Church.

Rev. Joseph Ewing performed the ceremony, with a small group of relatives and friends attending.

Food Savers Face 2 Problems

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (INS)—The citizens' food committee weighed two important decisions today as opposition to poultryless Thursdays and a whiskey-making "holiday" threatened to slow down its food-saving campaign.

The committee, headed by Charles Luckman, is expected to decide within the next few days whether to go ahead with the scheduled 60-day shutdown of the nation's distilling industry and also whether to continue the chicken-less day.

Committee sources said that there still is a possibility that the poultryless Thursday will be dropped. They believe, however, that the distillery shutdown will begin Saturday night as scheduled.

Both questions eventually may go to the White House. The cabinet food committee is considering the poultryless day idea. AFL distillery union officials insist that President Truman will rule on the whiskey industry shutdown.

3 Believed Dead In Navy Air Crash

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 23 (AP)—A Navy torpedo bomber, flying with five other planes on a bombing practice mission, went into a spin and crashed into southern San Francisco bay. The Navy said the three fliers aboard were presumed dead.

The plane, part of air group 15 based at the Alameda Naval Air Station, crashed about seven miles south of the San Mateo bridge.

Ballyhoo Now Important Part Of College Tilts

By JACK CONWAY

BOSTON COLLEGE and Villanova will attract another huge crowd to Braves Field tomorrow night. It is possible the attendance figures may not reach the 36,000 mark of the BC-LSU game, but they will at least reach the 30,000 mark.

"Most of the tickets for BC games are sold at the Heights by the 4200 members of the student body," said Billy Sullivan, publicity director of the Braves. "The student body has its own tickets which are sold at a reduced rate, and go as part of the college program.

"The students come from all sections of New England, and they usually secure tickets required by friends in their home cities and towns. There are surprisingly few tickets sold at Braves Field in comparison to the number disposed of at BC."

Boston College, by its brilliant showing against LSU, will enter the game a favorite. Villanova has won recent games against the University of Detroit and Holy Cross. It is packed with terrific power, and, according to Scout Reggie Brown, is a rough team. One cannot imagine the powerful BC team, with two of the best lines in Eastern college football, being awed by a club because it is reported as being a rough outfit.

After listening to Brown and other college coaches and scouts talk, this writer is inclined to believe that ballyhoo is becoming an important part of college football. Brown's statement has naturally helped to stimulate interest in tomorrow night's game. It has acted much as did the Harlow-DaGrossa rule feud prior to the Harvard-Holy Cross clash.

When BC played LSU, both teams played hard, clean football and no player was injured. This writer feels that the talk of Villanova being a rough team may cause some of the BC players to become too tense and not play their regular type of game.

If BC plays as it did against LSU it should win. It could have beaten highly rated LSU if it had not been for its own mistakes in the first half. The BC team that came within a point of gaining a tie in the second half was one of the finest seen in New England this year.

Denny Meyers' club is hopeful of playing in the Orange Bowl with LSU as an opponent, and it will strive to score a clean cut victory over Villanova.

Charity to Get $35,000 to $40,000 at Lincoln Downs

RHODE ISLAND charities will receive between $35,000 and $40,000 from the week of charity racing at Lincoln Downs, B. A. Dario told this writer. The daily net profit of the track was $5000 on Monday, while since then the mutuel handle has increased each day.

"It looks as if the week of racing will net charity between $35,000 and $40,000," declared Dario. "Earlier in the year we donated $7600 to various charities."

Dario asserted that in the event Suffolk Downs asks for 80 to 90 days of racing next year he will do likewise.

"I believe in reducing racing dates," asserted Dario, "and I hope the other New England tracks will join with me in trying to bring about such a result."

Mrs. Frances Tomasello, one of the directors of Suffolk Downs, attended the races at Lincoln Downs.

"This is one of the finest race tracks I have ever seen," Mrs. Tomasello declared. "It is the last word in construction and in comfort of the spectators. I am going to tell the directors at Suffolk Downs that we should give Lincoln Downs full consideration next year. I do not believe in racing conflicts. Over the long range period they are very harmful."

The ideal fall weather has helped Lincoln Downs, Rockingham Park and Foxboro.

Dario says that since the Pascoag-Lincoln Downs tracks have been in operation charity has received $310,000 from these organizations.

Random Shots at the Target

IT IS UNLIKELY that any more licenses for horse or dog tracks will be granted in Massachusetts, according to persons close to Beacon Hill . . . Gov. Bob Bradford feels there are enough tracks in operation at this time, and he does not wish to kill the goose that is laying the golden eggs . . . The Governor enjoys the thrill of a stirring horse race which this writer found out while we chatted at the Great Barrington Fair . . . The Governor also took time out from his many duties to attend the boxing show at the Garden for the Damon Runyon Cancer Fund.

Connie Lynch of Lowell, brother of the former welterweight boxer, Bill Murphy, has sent this writer a coin which a friend just brought back from Ireland.

"I am enclosing a coin," writes Lynch, "that a friend of mine just brought back from Ireland. It is six pence, worth about three cents. I have read about your magic coin many times, and decided I would send you an Irish magic coin for luck."

If my Magic Coin goes into a losing string, I shall call upon the lucky Irish coin to pick some winners."

Injuries Hamper Harvard, 4 Out for Dartmouth Clash

Harvard's dwindling injury list undwindled with a bang when it was announced by the medical department that three of Dick Harlow's starting eleven, Howard Houston, Jim Kenary, Chet Pierce and substitute end Bob Kennedy would be sidelined for Saturday's Dartmouth contest because of injuries. The decision had been pending treatments for the past few days but with the week-end only two days away it was finally decided that the players were physically unfit to take the field.

CHIP GANNON
Will Punt Saturday

Houston and Pierce are newcomers to the binnacle list, having participated in all of the games thus far, though both were slightly banged up in the Holy Cross tilt. Houston looked as though he might be ready to go but hurt himself Tuesday and now is definitely on the shelf. Kenary and Kennedy have been nursing their hurts for some time, the former since the first game of the season.

It was a sad piece of news for Dick Harlow who has been plagued with injuries since the Boston University game. He realizes that his team will be favored against the Big Green and the situation is ideal for a Dartmouth upset. The last report from Hanover states that speedy little breakaway runner, Connie Pensavalle, an Everett boy bruised in the Brown game, will be ready for action Saturday. With Pensaville back in the lineup, the Green offense will be given a big lift.

Harlow has moved John Gorzynski and Dean Markham up to the first team. The two boys played a whale of a game against the Crusaders after Houston was injured. Gorczynski had been dropped from the squad after the Virginia tilt, but rejoined the team last week in time to face Holy Cross. They will have to bear the brunt of the burden now because Harlow hasn't any depth in the tackle slots. Rocky Stone and Doug Bradlee, both of whom have seen little service this fall, will work as alternates to bolster the line.

A strong possibility is that Nick Rodis, erstwhile starting guard, will be switched to one of the tackle posts. Rodis has been working out at the position the past few days. He was called upon earlier in the season to support the center position, but wrenched his leg in the opening Western Maryland rout and has been out ever since. If he does take over one of the tackle berths it will be the third position he has learned plays. The 210-pound Nashua boy is a best on the defense and is one of the cogs of the forward wall no matter where he lines up.

The Crimson will miss Kenary's passing greatly. No one on the squad throws as accurate a spiral, and with the Dartmouth line heralded as a hard charging wall his tosses would give the Harlow attack a decided advantage. He has been on the shelf since he was injured in the Virginia disaster. However, the medical department has eased the news by indicating that he will be able to return in time to face Rutgers on November 1.

With Kenary sidelined, Jim Noonan will again be lining up in the tailback spot. The Brookline boy came through last week when under pressure. The Cross game was the one they most wanted to win, second only to the Yale battle. Noonan is a fine pass defender and a good tackler. He is not a hard runner but relies entirely on his deception and speed. He completed a good pass to end Tom Felt Saturday and looms as a possibility for sharing the passing quarterback berth with Ken O'Donnell or throwing some spirals from his tailback post.

Chip Gannon looked especially well in a kicking session yesterday and might share some of the booting with Wally Flynn Saturday . . . his hard running against the Cross was a big lift to the team

BIG GREEN HIT

HANOVER, N. H., Oct. 23 (AP) — Suffering bronchial pneumonia, Dartmouth reserve guard Jim Melville is a patient at the college infirmary and will be unable to play Saturday against Harvard. Others who may not play are backs Connie Pensavalle and Larry Perry.

Eddie Williams, another halfback, may be ready after recovering from a concussion suffered against Brown.

Purple Quits 'T' For Syracuse Game

WORCESTER, Oct. 23 (AP)—Holy Cross Coach John (Ox) Da Grosa not only has made personnel changes in the Holy Cross football lineup but has shifted his attack from the "T" back to the single wing and may use both formations Saturday against Syracuse.

Ray Ball will start at quarterback. Neither Tackle Walter Haas nor end Tom Kelleher is expected to be physically ready to play against Syracuse.

The team will leave tonight at 9 o'clock by train for Syracuse, N. Y.

Hawaiian Boy Sparkles In Gymnasts' Practice

SPRINGFIELD, Oct. 23 (AP)—Coach Ossie Solem has been stressing pass defense all week as Springfield prepares to fight hard against powerful Yale Saturday at New Haven, Ct.

Co-Captain Fern Tetreau, who has been out with injuries, will be ready for some action. Halfback Tosh Shimakubulo, a Hawaiian, has sparkled in practice all week.

Arlington Boy Returns To Action for Bates

LEWISTON, Me., Oct. 23 (AP)—Bates' football team will be at full strength Saturday when Maine University comes here for a game which will figure in the State championship.

Art Blanchard of Arlington, Mass., out since Oct. 11 with a head injury, returned to action yesterday.

Bruins, Canucks Give Referee Rough Evening

By BILL GRIMES

Maybe he did miss one, by failing to penalize "Butch" Bouchard for coming out of the box before the expiration of a penalty but the fact remains that Referee Bill Chadwick officiated a great game last night at the Garden, where the Bruins chalked up a 3 to 1 victory over Les Canadiens.

The game was a rip-snorter all the way. The players didn't pull any punches, even during the two melees, which broke out. The Bruins have been "cousins" of the Canucks for some years. There have been time when it looked as though they couldn't beat Bill Durnan if they used "pea-shooters."

The Bruins team that took Dick Irvin's boys over the jumps last night compares favorably with the best sextets Art Ross has ever produced. It was a spirited club, one which applied the pressure at the start and kept boring in. The one lapse, which came early in the third period, was responsible for the Canuck's lone tally. The defense sagged just long enough for the Frenchmen to cash in.

Bill Chadwick handed out no less than 16 penalties, including three majors. It was the type of game which easily could have gotten out of control. Apparently, Chadwick saw how things were shaping up at the very start, so he began to run the belligerents into the penalty box. Although each team drew eight penalties, the Bruins received two of the three majors.

But for the fact that Chadwick was right on the job from start to finish, the game might easily have developed into a Donnybrook. There's never been any love lost between Boston and Canadiens. The players took off at one another at the slightest provocation.

Usually when a referee hands out six penalties in the first periods the rough work ceases. But such wasn't the case last night. At one time in the first period, Eddie Sandford and Fernie Flamon of the Bruins and Bobby Carse and Doug Harvey were visiting Penalty Timer Ed Dagnino at one and the same time. Late in the final stanza, Murph Chamberlain sat out a two minute sentence with Flamon and Wally Wilson.

Early in the second period, "Butch" Bouchard drew a minor penalty for tripping Pete Babando. He came out of the box a second or so before his time was up, but a whistle blew and he was ordered to return to the box. Regardless of the fact that the play was stopped, Bouchard is subject to another minor penalty if he returns to the game before he gets the word from the penalty timer to "GO."

Coach Clapper protested but was overruled, but Chadwick's slip in that instance was of minor importance. The big thing was that he did keep the game under control, turning in one of the best performances of his career.

Dick Murphy Reports To Tufts' Grid Squad

Tufts' backfield has been bolstered by the re-appearance of Dick Murphy who started several games a year ago. He didn't report for this year's club until yesterday's practice which was a heartening one to Coach Fred Ellis because of the smoothness the varsity showed in a controlled scrimmage against Northeastern formations.

Young Morenz Plays Against Pics at Garden

Howie Morenz, Jr., son of one of the greatest hockey players of all time, heads the list of players who will don a Montreal Royals' uniform tomorrow night, when the Royals invade Boston Garden to battle the Boston Olympics.

Morenz is now 19 years of age. He starred in junior hockey for the past five years, and so far this season has been the shining light for last year's Allan Cup winners. He scored the first goal against New York Roovers last Sunday afternoon at the Forum as the Montreal sextet won their opening tilt, 3-0.

He started skating when he was but five years old, and was discovered by Cecil Hart, former Les Canadiens manager. After his father's death, young Morenz went with Les Canadiens on a barnstorming tour in the interest of the Howie Morenz Memorial Fund, and skated between periods.

Morenz starred here with Catholic High of Montreal, and last season was among the top point getters for Les Canadiens juniors of Montreal. His ambition is to make the jump to the Canucks in the National Hockey League. Young Howie alone will have permission to use No. 7, made great by his dad, if he makes Les Canadiens.

Medford Boy to Start At End for New Hampshire

DURHAM, N. H., Oct. 23 (AP)—Jim Nestor, a 180 pounder from Medford, Mass., may start at right end Saturday for the University of New Hampshire against Vermont.

Coach Biff Glassford, who expects to use an aerial attack against Vermont, also indicated Lou Pesalis of Manchester, might start at right tackle.

Bruins' Brimsek and Rookies Impressive

There were a couple of new faces at the pre-game dinner, "Dit" Clapper and Dick Irvin, both of whom brought along their appetites. Art Ross was an absentee . . . Due to business pressure, General Manager Frank J. Selke was unable to accompany the Flying Frenchmen here. However, he flew down but it was a slow trip and he didn't arrive until 7 p. m. . . . The Garden ice was far better than it was on Sunday but there was one bad spot—the North circle at the East end of the rink . . . After the game, Coach Hago Harrington put his Olympics through a practice session. It was their second of the day, for they had worked out at 6:30 in the morning at the Arena.

Coach Terry Reardon of the Reds came up from Providence to see his brother Kenny and the game. He believes that the Bruins are going to be a tough team for any club in the league to beat this winter . . . Johnny Pesky and Mickey Harris of the Red Sox enjoyed the pastime. They are hockey nuts and seldom miss a Bruins or picks game . . . Coach Clapper made a smart move late in the third period and it paid off. The Bruins were leading 2 to 1 but the pressure was on. So, "Dit" sent Kenny Smith in to center for Don Gallinger and Pete Babando. And, BANG, the Rossmen were two goals up after a three-man attack on which Babando beat Bill Durnan.

LAST NIGHT'S RESULTS
BRUINS 3, Montreal 1
Toronto 3, New York 1.

Jacques Locas—pronounced Lo-car—the Canucks' rookie right winger is a scrappy kid and looks like a good prospect. He doesn't speak English, unless he's talking contract . . . Murph Chamberlain lived up to his nickname, "Hard-rock." He's been around the NHL for years, has always given his best efforts and has yet to back away from any opponent. But, despite the strenuous brand of hockey he's played, Murph is more effective today than he was five years ago . . . After watching Frank Brimsek against the All-Stars, Rangers and Les Canadiens, I'm convinced "Z" is back to his prewar form. He was jittery when he came back from the South Pacific, partly because his nerves were shot from duty on a submarine and partly because of the inferior protection he received. But, now, he's the Brimsek of old, which is a break for the Bruins.

Of the Bruins' rookies, Clare Martin is the standout. His year with the Hershey Club of the American Hockey League developed him into a major leaguer. Wally Wilson is also doing a nice job and within a few weeks Pete Babando, Eddie Sandford and Eddie Harrison will get the feel and begin to click . . . Milt Schmidt's goal was one for the book. Just as he took a pass out of the corner from Kenny Smith, Milt was hit and spun around. But with his back to Bill Durnan, "Schmiddy" pushed the puck between his legs and it wound up in the cage . . .

B. U. Expected to Show More Against W. & M.

Although "Buff" Donelli's B. U. Terriers will be underdogs for the second successive week, the Scarlet and White squad should fare much better in their game with William & Mary than they did against Purdue.

Listed among the better southern teams, Coach Rube McCray's Indians have not been as impressive as the press clippings indicate.

Two weeks ago, against a seemingly helpless V. P. I. team, the Braves trailed the Techmen by 7 points throughout the first half, before making a strong comeback to take a 21-7 decision. A week earlier, the Techmen had been trampled 42-7 by Virginia.

Last week, North Carolina's Tarheels skipped off the gridiron with a 13-7 win over the Braves, as Charlie Justice put on another one-man show of gridiron power.

William and Mary's two other wins were made at the expense of Davidson and Citadel.

The Williamsburg, Va., squad has also been plagued by injuries all season long. Tommy Korczowski, one of the most sensational players in the Southern Conference, and the William and Mary top passing and running back, is out for the remainder of the season with a broken ankle.

Jack (Flying) Cloud, "Mr Team" as far as the Indians are concerned, is still a doubtful starter, although he has been working out with the team. Right behind No. Carolina's Charlie Justice in the scoring department, Cloud has amassed a total of 66 points in the first four games to lead the Braves in every running department.

Replacing the injured Korczowski in the tailback spot will be Stan Magdziak, who has gained much recognition as "The Arm" and "The Toe" during his past three years at William and Mary. Stan is a deadeye passer, and in addition to his punting is extremely accurate as a field goal and extra point artist.

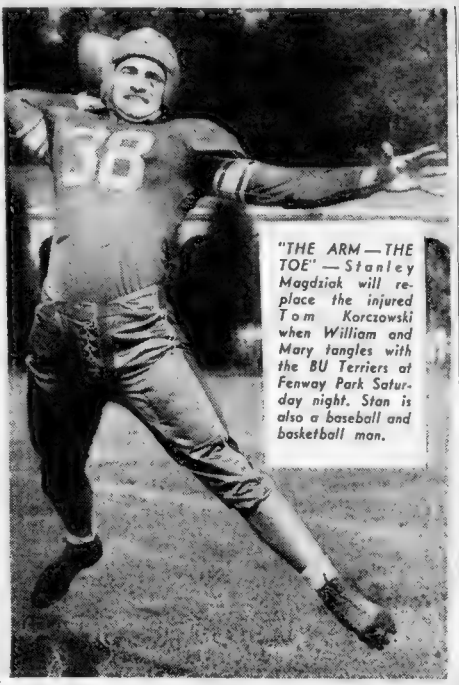
The W. & M. scouts who witnessed the Purdue slaughter declared that the Terriers looked better to them in the first half, than they did all season long.

The Indians have been working long hours trying to improve their pass defense which was sadly lacking against the Tarheels. Coach McCray expects the Terriers to use an aerial attack, spearheaded by Johnny Toner and Billy Tighe.

"Buff" Donelli's big problem is whether or not he can gear the Terriers up for the Indians.

Signs have been posted all over Nickerson Field telling of the Harvard comeback against Holy Cross after their 47-0 defeat at the hands of Virginia.

The Terriers will go through light drills for the remainder of the week.



"THE ARM—THE TOE"—Stanley Magdziak will replace the injured Tom Korczowski when William and Mary tangles with the BU Terriers at Fenway Park Saturday night. Stan is also a baseball and basketball man.

Keith Back Rated High By Coach

By JACK CONWAY, JR.

Spencer Sullivan, coach of the defeated Keith Academy in Lowell, struck on a highly controversial subject when he stated that, "I have a better football player on my team than Harry Agganis of Lynn Classical." Sullivan has been coaching top football teams, and famed football players for years and knows ability as well as any coach.

"Mal Cook, our fullback and co-captain would make Agganis a second string player if they were on the same team," emphasized Sullivan. "Mal is a more accurate passer and is a much more powerful runner. Just recently he smashed through the line for 75 and 87-yard touchdown runs. He's 6 ft. 2 in. tall and weighs 212. That's college material in a high school uniform."

Cook has had plenty of opportunity to assert himself as Keith boasts one of the strongest teams on the North Shore. To date they have beaten Dover 14-7, Lawrence Catholic 28-7, St. John's (Worcester) 21-6, St. John's (Danvers) 20-6. Next in line are St. Clement's (Lowell), St. Peter's (Worcester), Malden Catholic and Nashua.

A tough schedule, yes. It could be even more rugged but teams like Somerville, Revere, Leominster and others have not shown an inclination to meet the little Lowell academy of 450 students.

Sullivan shifted the conversation back to Cook and said, "I know a good football player when I see one for I have coached some pretty good boys. I had Hank Mazur with me when I was at Lowell in 1939. Then Hank went on to star for Army. Then there was George Ford who was an All-State fullback with us in 1942. Jimmy Sullivan, now at Notre Dame and Arthur Antonelli at Georgia are a couple more."

Cook has had offers from South Carolina, Georgia, Notre Dame and Boston College. One can be certain that Cook will be a powerhouse when Keith meets Lowell in two weeks. Lowell is the traditional rival of Keith and a mighty rugged foe.

Two years ago Joe McArdle, former aid to Frank Leahy, was at Lowell. McArdle told Sullivan at that time that, "Cook is a better passer than Bertelli was when he first reported to Notre Dame."

Sullivan mentioned, with praise, the work of his two 15-year-old guards Bob Ready and George Frakapas. Bob Ready's brother Roger is well remembered as he was the first baseman on the Keith state championship baseball team and is now an end at South Carolina. Rex Enwright, another Keith boy, is also on the varsity at So. Carolina.

Fred McOsker, Keith left halfback is another boy who is showing great ability. Fred is a catcher on the baseball team. He was one of the outstanding baseball prospects at the Hearst Sandlot baseball school held under the direction of George Atkinson at Lawrence last June 5th. McOsker used to catch Jackie Campbell who is now the No. 1 pitcher at Notre Dame. Fred wants to go out and resume his battery acquaintance with Campbell.

N. U. Coach Undecided On Tufts Starters

With but two days remaining before the game Saturday at Tufts Oval, Coach Johnny Grinnell of Northeastern is still undecided about half of his starting lineup. The backfield is fairly safe with three of the quartet slated, but for various reasons selection of the linesmen has been delayed.

Definite backfield starters are Jimmy Orphanos of Lynn at quarterback, Bob McIntyre of Wellesley returning as fullback, and John Curley of Mattapan at fullback. A pending medical report will determine whether George Lucas of Somerville is to complete the foursome.

Grinnell has a choice of Larry Redgate or Jimmy Papile for the center spot, in place of injured regular, Ed Belforti. Opening at right end will be either Andy Corayos of Frank Mondano, depending on whether the team kicks off or receives.

Tentatively Grinnell plans to use Bob Hall at left tackle and Sid Glick at right guard. The physician will have final say on the matter.

Saturday's game looks to be one of aerial offense the way Grinnell is keeping for reserve quarterback the power-armed Mike Koulopoulos of Waltham. Mike, in other seasons, keeps his throwing arm limber through participation in baseball and basketball.

With him may be a reserve backfield specializing in offense, consisting of Guido Barbierri, Sam Musumeci, and Jim Douglas.

The Huskies have also been working on pass defense with a view to stopping a Tufts aerial barrage. Especial alm will be to break up the pitches of Jumbos Johnny Kochiss and Julie Dolliner.

Husky pass defense will be bolstered if Lucas is able to play for George is a fast-reacting back and can cover his assigned territory with ease. Pete Sikalis and starter Curley are also expected to aid in the visitor's defense Saturday.

Michigan Set To Go All Out For Brown Jug

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 23 (AP)—A Michigan football juggernaut that hasn't really been tested in four runaway victories this season, will be at top strength for Saturday's "Little Brown Jug" clash with Minnesota—just in case.

Few who saw the Gophers tumble in a 40 to 13 licking last week at the hands of Illinois believe that Minnesota has the depth to press the Michigan steamroller, but the Wolverines won't be caught napping midway in their drive for an undisputed Big Nine title—something they haven't won since Herbert O. (Fritz) Crisler first came to Michigan as head coach in 1938.

Three-deep in talented material at every backfield post, Michigan has powered its way to 222 points in its four top-heavy triumphs over Michigan State, Stanford, Pitt and Northwestern, scoring no fewer than 49 points any time out yet.

To maintain that depth, Crisler this week reconverted center Dan Dworsky to the fullback job he held down a year ago, shifting him back into the backfield from center to fill sophomore Dick Kempthorn's shoes as third string fullback behind Jack Weisenburger and Tom Peterson. Kempthorn is hobbling on a lame knee and probably won't play against Minnesota.

'B. C. Not Cocky,' Claims Myers

By FRED HOEY

"If we are so terribly underrated as Coach Olivar of Villanova says, the desired effect of this assertion misses its mark with plenty to spare," declared Coach Denny Myers, fiery B. C. coach as he prepares his men for the all-important test with the Wildcats at Braves Field tomorrow night.

"It's very obvious that statements of this nature are intended to make a team a bit overconfident, but this doesn't apply in the case of Boston College. We already have lost a game so there is nothing to be cocky about," continued Myers.

"I quite agree with Jordan Olivar that a distinction be made between hard and rugged football and the dirty brand. No coach in the country teaches his men to play dirty football.

"In the heart of a furious battle sometimes a couple of players get over-excited but it's due more to their zealous play. Then, too, feeling is likely to run high but as the boys confine their efforts to legitimate, hard, and bruising play with no thought of fisticuffs, its OK with me."

Continued Denny: "This Villanova team has pointed for our game. I wouldn't hesitate to add that both the Army and the Boston College teams were the teams which Villanova would most like to top this season.

"Against Army they failed when two fumbles paved the way for a West Point victory. But don't forget that in Villanova's game with Detroit last Sunday, which the Wildcats won 14-12, they stayed, for the most part, on the ground. In addition they had many of their outstanding players sitting on the bench. What for? To be saved for the Boston College game tomorrow night.

"We know we are in for a rugged game but my players are ready for Villanova," concluded the B. C. coach.

So today Coach Myers will work his B. C. squad lightly, and the Villanova team will be at Braves Field this afternoon to run through signals and also for a final passing and kicking drill. Tonight the Villanova Alumni holds a smoker at the Hotel Lenox.

Chelsea and Everett fans have requested blocks of tickets. Chelsea fans want to pay tribute to Art Finklestein, of Villanova who starred for Chelsea High. Then the enormous 6.1, 222 pounder, Ralph Pasquariello, of the Wildcats will be warmly greeted by his host of Everett fans.

Altogether this B. C.-Wildcat game looks like one of the toughest of the year in point of hard play. It may be the game of the season in local college football.

Songin's Return Bolsters B. C., Will Open Against Villanova

The return to action of fullback Ed "Butch" Songin should boost the Boston College Eagles' stock when they take on rugged Villanova under the lights at Braves Field tomorrow night. A 190-pounder, Songin has been sidelined since the opener with Clemson.

The sophomore from Walpole is rapidly rounding into one of the best ball toters on the Eagle squad. Well proportioned with broad shoulders and powerful legs, he's a good line plunger and fits in perfectly with Coach Denny Myers' version of the T formation. When two or three yards is necessary for a first down, Songin is the man who can pile through.

A triple threat, he kicks and passes as well as he runs. After Tom Brennan's splendid booting display against L. S. U., "Butch" may not be used as a kicker too often against the Wildcats but he's a handy man to have around.

Late last fall he began to show his ability. He saw limited service during the early portion of the season but improved so much that he was classed as a first stringer as the schedule was completed.

In early practice sessions he was particularly impressive. Starting against Clemson, he was injured early in the clash, bruising his heel, and he hasn't played since.

Out for practice Monday, Songin had four days in which to whip back into shape. Prior to this week he kept in shape as well as he could but didn't do any running.

An ETO grid standout while in the Army in '45, 'Butch" has an older brother Fred who is also on the Eagle squad. Fred is bigger than brother Ed, tipping the scales at 205 pounds. He stands six feet, and runs from the right halfback slot.

Fred hasn't seen much action this season but may see service tomorrow night. Coach Denny Myers will use all his heavy backs on defense in an effort to stop the bruising line plunging of fullback Ralph Pasquariello.

The program lists Pasquariello, a sophomore from Everett as weighing 222 pounds. However, that's only one more pound than he weighed while playing for Denny Gildea at Everett High. Maybe it's a typographical error but a guess would place his actual playing weight more in the vicinity of 235 pounds.

Steve Stuka will again open at quarterback. Even if Ed Clasby is ready for the game physically, the long layoff has thrown off his timing, a vital factor in the handling of the pigskin in the T formation. Sophomore Kenny Hughes, 160-pounder from Patchogue, N. Y., has recovered from his leg injury and is expected to be in action tomorrow.

MAINE HIDES MAGIC

ORONO, Me., Oct. 23 (AP)—The University of Maine football team probably will spring a few surprises Saturday against Bates at Lewiston as students were barred from yesterday's practice session which was featured by the passing of Hal Parady and the running of Dick Tamm.

Majors Set for History-Making Housecleaning

NEW YORK, Oct. 23 (AP)—Old age has crept up on so many major league clubs that baseball is getting set for its most thorough housecleaning job in years. Much of the overage talent is slated for the scrap heap before the 16 clubs start spring training March 1.

The "Youth Movement" definitely is in full swing in Brooklyn, Cincinnati and Philadelphia. In fact, the Chicago White Sox, last of the "stand pat" crowd, also are undergoing changes that will shake out most of the deadwood.

Since the end of the season, the White Sox have released Lefty Thornton Lee, the cunning southpaw who used to be one of the best in the American League. He still can do his stuff, but each year he needs more rest between starts. Likewise, the Sox have cut loose Red Ruffing, who failed to show many traces of his old New York Yankee form in a few starts for Chicago.

Ruffing is reported headed for a scouting or farm system job in the Yankee organization.

The Chicago Cubs have been weeding out the oldsters. Third baseman Stan Hack is gone and so are veteran pitchers Claude Passeau and Bill Lee. Billy Jurges, the utility infielder who played shortstop regularly for a stretch in September, has been released as a player but signed as a coach.

With Bill Meyer, a great hand with young players, taking over at Pittsburgh, there will be more pink slips handed out by General Manager Roy Hamey. Jim Bagby, the former Red Sox and Cleveland hurler, already has been sent to Indianapolis by the Pirates and Rip Sewell has been retired and becomes a pitching coach.

Han Greenberg is no longer a Pirate. Free to shop for a connection, Hank is considering an operation for removal of bone chips from his elbow. The Pirates also sent Roger Wolff, the knuckle ball expert, to Sacramento in payment for a young catcher.

The Giants, who revitalized their roster with the additions of Jack Lohrke, Bob Thomson and Larry Jansen last winter, have cut loose an old familiar hand, catcher Ernie Lombardi. The Phillies, banking heavily on young talent from the minors, handed out a release to Skeeter Newsome, veteran shortstop.

Detroit handed Skeeter Webb a pink slip and General Manager Billy Evans is shopping for a second base-shortstop combination to restore the Tigers to the contending class.

Cecil Travis of Washington has been placed on the voluntary retired list and old "Grandma" Johnny Murphy has retired as a Red Sox pitcher to scout new talent. The Sox also released Edgar Smith, the veteran southpaw whom they picked up on waivers from Chicago in late season, and reliefer Bob Klinger.

Crowley Stays, Pool Resigns

CHICAGO, Oct. 23 (AP)—Hampton Pool has resigned as assistant coach of the Chicago Rockets of the All-America Football Conference, spiking reports that the former Chicago Bears and Stanford end would replace Jim Crowley as coach of the Rockets.

Of the reported Crowley resignation, Owner Toohey said:

"I don't know where that story started. There is absolutely no foundation for it. Crowley is still our coach, and he will continue to direct the team as long as he wants to as far as I'm concerned."

Crowley is in charge of the Rockets at Soldier Field in preparation for their Conference contest with the New York Yankees tomorrow night. The Chicagoans have lost eight consecutive games.

State Disregards Rabbits, Beagle Club Chief Says

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

Because of terrific forest fire dangers, the openings of all hunting seasons have been postponed—but this appears to be the "open season" for sportsmen's gripes, many of which are justifiable. Local rabbit hunters should be interested in the following letter from Maurice R. Samson, field trial chairman of the Eastern Mass. Beagle Club, Inc.:

"Enclosed is a picture which I just clipped from the current issue of a sporting magazine, and it certainly makes anyone ask, 'What is the matter with our Dept. of Fisheries and Game?' The photo shows a solid carload of 6000 wild cottontail rabbits being unloaded at Wilkes-Barre, Pa. This particular shipper states that he is fowarding approximately 160,000 cottontails to other regions of the country for fall liberation.

"Practically every State is importing thousands of rabbits this year so that hunters and field trial followers will be able to continue their sport—but not Massachusetts! We are not importing one single cottontail rabbit, nor will the State give permission to any club to do so.

"Then again, what about the White Hare? How many did the department buy last season for the many dollars taken in on the sale of licenses? I live in Ashburnham, where White Hares thrive, but not one was liberated in my town last autumn. Certainly the department should match the purchases of the various clubs in hares as they do with fish and game.

"Under the present set-up, the Division of Fisheries and Game is driving the sports of rabbit hunting, hare gunning, and field trials right out of existence!"

OUTDOOR O. O.'s: Good coot shooting off Manomet Point, despite the unseasonable weather, is the word from Mrs. Al Tripp, whose husband operates the boat station at this popular rendezvous . . . Anglers, too, are having their innings, for numerous catches of big tautog, cod, and pollock are being boated . . . Joe O'Donnell, John Foley and Joseph Despinosa, of Norwood, hooked 200 pounds of tautog last weekend . . . Dave Zais, Fall River, tied into an 11½-pound tautog during his first visit to Manomet in several years . . . A 21¼-pound cod was taken on rod and reel by B. J. Beaulieu, of Pawtucket, R. I., the fish breaking part of his rod. He later landed a 13½-pound pollock with the broken rod, fishing with Edmund Landry and Arthur Langevin.

Zanelli Finally Takes Spotlight By Beating Priest

Ralph Zanelli, at 32, has taken the spotlight in New England boxing circles. His blistering win over Al "Red" Priest in Providence last night put him on the N. E. middleweight throne. It also made him the only New Englander now in line for possible shots at Rocky Graziano and Tony Zale.

Priest was a 100-40 favorite going into the fight. Only Zanelli seemed to think he'd win.

"Red is young and he has been winning," said Ralph before the fight, "but I still have a few good punches left in these dukes," as he banged his heavily bandaged hands on the rubbing table.

Zanelli was still smiling after the bout. And well he should, for he had fought the best in N. E. and outscored the champ 11 of the 12 rounds.

Ralph began to throw punches in the first round. Priest has always been a slow starter, so no one was very much concerned. But when Ralph ripped a vicious right hand uppercut to Red's head in the second and was way ahead on points at the end of the sixth the roaring and screaming drowned out the sound of the bell.

Red, now worried and deeply concerned, won the seventh but the rest of the fight was all Zanelli. Priest was hurt and groggy after the encounter.

Red, almost in tears later in the dressing room, said: "I don't know what ever happened. Ralph was great tonight. Maybe that punch I caught in the second round slowed me up."
